Spaceship Takes Word To Aliens

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Pioneer 10, travelling at record speed, raced on an almost perfect course today toward the distant planet Jupiter and an eternal journey through interstellar space.

Flying with the spacecraft was a message for alien civilizations which might exist beyond the solar system.

Project officials said a brief firing of small spacecraft jets next Monday would adjust Pioneer 10's path so it would zero in on Jupiter, 21 months and more than 600 million miles away.

An Atlas-Centaur rocket thundered away from Cape Kennedy at 8:49 p.m. EST to propel Pioneer 10 into space at 31,413 miles an hour, nearly 7,000 m.p.h. faster than any space vehicle had flown.

If all goes as planned, the interplanetary explorer will be the first to fly through the asteroid belt, the first to explore the solar system's largest planet and the first to escape the solar system to wander forever through other galaxies.

If it does not collide with a celestial body or is not captured by outer space beings, scientists said it will fly for eternity.

On the outside chance that it one day might be intercepted by intelligent beings from another civilization, Pioneer 10 carries a gold plaque which tells in drawings and scientific symbols when and from where it was launched and by what kind of people. Included are the naked figures of a man and woman, the man's right hand raised in a gesture of friendliness.

A major threat to Pioneer could be the asteroid belt, a band of billions of pieces of debris that orbit the sun at distances from 170 million to 345 million miles.

The pay load will penetrate the atmosphere of Jupiter Dec. 2, 1973, to begin four days of intensive investigation before zipping on into space.

In 11 or 12 years after launch, Pioneer 10 would become the first manmade device to escape the solar system after it passes beyond the orbit of Pluto. It would travel in a straight line toward the star Aldebaran, a journey of 1.7 billion years.

INQUIRY TOLD:

Bombs Found On Four Killed After Bloody Sunday Clash

COLERAINE, Northern Ireland (CP) — Four gilliganite nail bombs were found on an Ulster civilian killed by British Army gunfire at Londonderry Jan. 30, an army officer testified Thursday before a court of inquiry investigating 13 deaths in the Bloody Sunday rioting.

The ordinance corps captain-identified one as Soldier 127 as a precaution against reprisals — was the first military witness called before Lord Widgery, chief justice of England who is conducting a one-man probe into the clash that occurred when paratroopers blocked an illegal civil rights march.

Lord Widgery has been taking evidence for nine days.

Apart from the gilliganite bomb evidence, Lord Widgery heard Thursday that:

—Three of the dead had been shot in the back and four months have been hit by ricocheting bullets.

—Scientific tests indicated that six of the victims had probably fired weapons or handled them, or had been close to where they were being fired.

Soldier 127, an ammunition expert, said he found the four bombs on the body of Gerald Donaghy, which was lying in a cage.

Dr. Keith Simpson, a home office pathologist in London, gave evidence of the entry wounds on the bodies and said all were consistent with a weapon of the kind used by the army.

Dr. John Martin, a government scientific officer, gave evidence on the results of tests on the bodies for tiny particles of lead of the type flung out from the barrels of discharging weapons.

Apart from six positive results, he said, two of the bodies showed doubtful reactions while the results in the case of the other five were negative.

Donaghy's body was among the doubtful cases, but tests on his person showed that he had handled nail bombs. Tests for explosives on the other 12 were negative.

In response to questioning from counsel for the victims' next of kin, Dr. Martin agreed it was possible that lead traces from gun discharges found on six bodies could have come from other sources. But there was a strong suspicion that they had been handling firearms.

IRA Has 'Nothing To Fear'

LONDON (CP) — Prime Minister Heath's decision to ban the hood-and-noise technique of extracting secrets from Irish terrorists won widespread support in Britain today. But one newspaper suggested British troops now will have to fight with one arm tied.

"Now the Irish Republican Army gunmen know they have nothing to fear if caught and questioned," says The Daily Mail.

But other published reports suggest Heath's decision, announced Thursday, may be the appetizer to encourage Ulster Roman Catholics to accept a political settlement.

Speculation continues that Heath soon may be ready to launch his much-heralded political initiative.

Under the interrogation technique, which a three-man committee suggested originated with the KGB police in the Soviet Union, 14 IRA suspects were subjected to intensive mental and physical strain. Hooded and isolated, they spent long periods facing a wall with arms outstretched. They were fed on bread and water while monotonous noises were filtered through the room.

But Gardiner argued that information could have been obtained by use of "stool pigeons" and secret microphones in the prisoners' cells, a method which the majority report rejected as too slow. Gardiner also said persons subjected to the hood-and-noise techniques may exhibit anxiety attacks, tremors, insomnia, nightmares and other symptoms to neurosis long after the "grilling" ends.

JAIL BID

BELFAST (Reuter) — Visitors to the Crumlin Road jail overpowered a number of guards Thursday but a mass escape attempt by prisoners was foiled.

The prisoners were returned to their cells and the visitors were taken to a waiting area, where three guns were found on them.

Makarios Backed

NICOSIA (AP) — A huge rally in Nicosia today rejected a demand by the synod of the Cyprus church for the resignation of Archbishop Makarios as president of the island republic.

The vast pro-Makarios assembly was regarded as a blunt rejection by the people of Cyprus of attempts by the ruling Greek colony in Athens to oust Makarios or turn him into their puppet.

The crowd, estimated at 100,000, was second only to the unprecedented turnout 13 years ago, when Makarios returned from exile at the end of the independence struggle against the British, to become the island's first president.

Makarios avoided reference to the rift between him and the Greek colonists, which threatens to plunge this predominantly Greek island into civil war again. But other speakers at the rally were scathing in denouncing his opponents.

The Bishop of Suffragan of Constantia, one of the archbishop's closest aides, called on the rally "to chop off the hands raised against the patriarch."

Jobless Rate Rises In U.S.

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — The unemployment rate in the United States continued its downward course in February, declining to 5.7 per cent—the lowest rate in 16 months the labor department reported today.

This compared with 5.9 per cent in January and six per cent in both December and November.

It was the first time since October 1970, that the jobless rate of the labor force declined below 5.8 per cent.

SPRING IS BLOSSOMING!

Don't tell these cherry blossoms that it's cold outside. Their time to bloom has come and that's it. The blossoms originated in the garden of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Soare on Richter Street. Here, Kevin Soare, 6, and his sister Carol, 10, do a spot of dreaming about cherry pies and of the warmer weather that must be on the way at last after the long, cold winter.

Groups Deny Endorsing Sect As Recipient Of L.I.P. Funds

TORONTO (CP) — Several Toronto institutions have denied that they endorsed a Toronto-based religious sect which obtained federal funds under the federal government's Local Initiatives Program.

External Affairs Minister Mitchell Sharp said in the House of Commons earlier this week that The Process, Church of the Final Judgment, received its $25,900 grant after the group had been endorsed by Doctors Hospital and other well-established institutions.

Wallace Nesbitt, Progressive Conservative member of Parliament for Oshawa, says the group is "widely reported to promote devil worship." The group has denied such charges and said the grant is being used to expand its social services.

Administrator S. J. Johnston of Doctors Hospital issued a statement Thursday saying:

"The hospital was not asked by any government agency about this group and the hospital did not at any time provide any government agency with any endorsement of the group."

He said two members of the group worked as volunteers at the hospital for a total of 14 hours from October to December, but were supervised at all times on the hospital's pediatric floor and "at no time did they introduce anything of a religious or philosophical nature."

INDIAN ANSWER... ...TO B-B COMPLAINERS

You Don't Like It? Give It Back..

OTTAWA (CP) — Sometimes, Len Marchand told the Commons Thursday night, he thinks those who complain about biculturalism in Canada should give the country back to the Indians.

If the Indians had a good immigration policy when the country was settled by whites, problems of biculturalism would not be an issue, he added.

The Indian MP from Kamloops-Cariboo made his remarks which contained a condemnation of Premier W. A. C. Bennett of British Columbia — during debate in the Commons on a government bill to extend equalization payments to the poorer provinces for another five years.

The bill appeared to be going through without trouble, with no member opposing the idea of the rich helping the poor, and remarks by some members went far afield.

Under the bill, the federal government will continue to pay money to the seven poorer provinces to bring their standards up to the level of Ontario, B.C. and Alberta — the three richest.

Payments will increase the $1 billion paid in 1967 to $1.5 billion by 1972. Renewal of equalization payments was agreed to by provincial and federal ministers last month.

Charles-Arthur Gauthier (SC) — Roberval) criticized every Quebec government since 1942 during debate Thursday.

Hugh John Flemming, former Conservative premier of New Brunswick, reiterated a long-standing claim by the Maritime provinces to special consideration because they did not get northern territories added to their areas of jurisdiction after Confederation.

Mr. Marchand, a Liberal, criticized Premier Bennett for his attacks on equalization payments, saying the criticism was distressing and wrong, contributed to distrust and misunderstanding and was not in the best interests of national unity.

Mr. Bennett has attacked equalization payments, partly on the ground that some provinces, notably Quebec, do not tax their resource industries in the same manner as B.C. He also has said there are too many French-Canadians in Ottawa — a remark that led Prime Minister Trudeau to call him a bigot.

Mentioning biculturalism policy attacks by some backbenchers, mainly Conservatives, in the Commons last week as well as Mr. Bennett's statements, he said he sometimes chuckles and thinks:

"If these guys don't like the country, they can give it back to the Indians." Then he mentioned the immigration policy.

He strongly supported equalization payments.

Mr. Gauthier said since the provinces turned over certain taxation fields to the federal government in 1942, successive Quebec governments have acted as either useless traitors or hypocrites. Never has any Quebec government told the people how easy it would be to get back all the direct tax fields, he said.

He said a section of the 1942 agreement says Quebec could break off the agreement any March 31 simply by serving written notice.

Jobs Comment Termed Unfair By Manpower

"I think it's a most unfair comment to make; people want to work," declared local Canada Manpower manager, Mrs. Alice Runnalls.

Referring to statements made at a regional district meeting Wednesday by Rutland director, Mel Marshall, published in Thursday's Courier, Mrs. Runnalls stressed unemployed people in Rutland "are willing to work and look hard for jobs."

Mr. Marshall had told the regional district meeting "things were not working out too well" with a federal local initiative program approved for his area. He indicated the program, coordinated through Canada Manpower, was not having "too much luck" acquiring workers necessary. The parks improvement project involves the Centennial, Edith Gay and Lions parks, requiring the services of some four men.

"I have six vacancies for the project," emphasized Mrs. Runnalls, adding her office had supplied the Rutland Parks and Recreation Commission with eight names of unemployed Rutland people.

"No one turned us down," she declared, adding "they were all delighted to get the opportunity."

She said Thursday's front page Courier story on Mr. Marshall's comments had generated response from four people at her office in a 15-minute period Thursday. She had also received nine telephone calls during that time.

Fireman Dies In P.Q. Crash

QUEBEC (CP) — Rail traffic on the CNR's Montreal-Quebec line was rerouted today after a Rapido passenger train from Montreal went off the tracks 30 miles west of here Thursday, killing a fireman.

Jacques Mongrain, 48, of suburban Beaufort, died when two diesel locomotives on the 115-passenger train left the tracks near July shortly after 1 p.m. during a heavy snowstorm.

No passengers were injured but two other crew members were brought to hospital here, one suffering shock and the other with a sprained back, a railway spokesman said.

The passengers were taken by snowmobile to a school and a convent in July by provincial police and later by bus to nearby Laurier. A special train took them to Charny, on the south shore of the St. Lawrence River opposite Quebec City, and buses brought them into the provincial capital.

The locomotives jumped the track at a speed of about 80 miles an hour, one jumping a fence by the tracks and ending up facing in the opposite direction. The other landed at right angles to the tracks.

A railway official in Montreal said the engines rode up on packed snow and ice and lost contact with the rails.

Top U.S. Envoy Assures Taipei

TAIPEI (AP) — Marshall Green, assistant U.S. secretary of state, met for 5 1/2 hours today with Nationalist Chinese leaders angry over President Nixon's trip to mainland China. He said afterward he had assured them that "faithfully honoring all of our commitments remains a cornerstone of U.S. policy."

These include defence and other ties with Nationalist China, Green said before departing for Manila, the fourth stop on his Asian swing to explain Nixon's China trip.

Boy In Drain Rescued

EL MONTE, Calif. (AP) — A rescue worker carried six-year-old Anthony Bernadino to safety today after the boy had spent almost seven hours tightly wedged 27 feet down a narrow hole.

The dirt-eaten and pale youngster said, "Hi, Mommy, Hi Daddy," to his parents before being taken by helicopter to a medical centre for observation. He was reported in good condition.

"How's Jimmy?" the boy added in reference to his eight-year-old brother. The two were flying kites Thursday afternoon when Anthony tumbled into the hole on a road construction project in this Los Angeles suburb.

Rescue workers, reporters and hundreds of onlookers cheered when the tiny boy was carried from a rescue shaft at 12:08 a.m. PST.

"I never thought they wouldn't get him," his mother Sandra said. "I just wondered how long it was going to take."

At times rescue workers could hear the boy crying, then laughing hysterically.

Crash Follows Man's Suicide

INGOLSTADT (AP) — One old train crashed into another one in the Ingolstadt station Thursday night, killing three persons, and afterward the stationmaster threw himself in front of a moving train and died, police in this West German city said.

The police said apparently one train of tank cars crashed into another one that was either stopped or moving slowly in the station. About 20 cars exploded or caught fire.

John Engelhardt, 76, and his 75-year-old wife were killed when an exploding tank car was catapulted into the former yard watchman's office where they lived. Gerhard Gebel, 23, the engineer of the train that hit the other also was killed.

INCIDENT PROBED

Commons Speaker Lucien Lamoureux, above, promised a full investigation today into the questioning by parliamentary protective staff of Roger Jay, communications officer for the Union of Ontario Indians. Mr. Lamoureux told the Commons he would have a report on the incident later today. In the interim, he offered an apology to Mr. Jay "if in any way we are at fault" and said the representative of the Indian group "had every right" to be admitted to the Parliament buildings.

NAMES IN THE NEWS

Bennett Warns On Equalization

Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Thursday in Victoria both Prime Minister Trudeau and Quebec Premier Robert Bourassa would be defeated if the Quebec people realized that the money from the federal-provincial equalization program is being wasted. The premier, commenting on the federal government's decision to extend the equalization program another five years, repeated his statement that the money should be going to individuals rather than to provincial governments. Mr. Bennett said Finance Minister John Turner is a great friend of his and he was disappointed to see that Mr. Turner's policy was to continue the federal equalization program and increase the payments from the federal treasury to $1.5 billion in 1977-78.

RALPH LOFFMARK ... suicides revealed

Health Minister Ralph Loffmark disclosed in Victoria there were six suicides by patients of the Riverview mental hospital and one suicide in Skeenaville mental hospital in 1971. The suicides were revealed by the health minister in the legislature in response to a question on the order paper. Mr. Loffmark said two of the patients died in residence at Riverview, two died while on "visit leave" and two died while on "unauthorized absence" from the institution. The Swiss government has agreed to postpone extradition proceedings against Mrs. Clifford Irving and U.S. authorities said in New York Thursday the move caught them by surprise. Douglas Foster, acting for Switzerland, said the delay until March 29 was reached in agreement with Maurice Nesken, lawyer for Mrs. Irving.

Israeli archeologists say they have found a hidden staircase leading to the temple built in Jerusalem by King Herod nearly 2,500 years ago. Prof. Benjamin Mazar of the Hebrew University, who headed the expedition, opened the archeological site to newsmen Thursday, four years after the dig began.

Montreal business executive Alex D. Hamilton said Thursday in Vancouver that eastern Canadian pulp and paper interests are ignorant of business opportunities in British Columbia. Mr. Hamilton, president of Domtar Pulp and Paper Products Ltd., said it is difficult for anybody in the west to appreciate the image easterners have of B.C.

Jan. 30 may have fired weapons. Testimony by Dr. John Martin before a court of inquiry into the deaths did not establish when the weapons had been fired. He said tests on the six men showed minute lead particles on their hands similar to particles produced by discharged gases from a firearm.

A two-man submersible craft is to join the search today for the missing tug 'Haro Stralis', believed submerged in 620 feet of water off Point Roberts, Wash. After completing preliminary testing, the mini-sub will begin searching for the tug and the five-man crew it carried when it disappeared in a gale Sunday. The 'Nektos', owned by General Oceanographics of San Diego, is capable of diving to a depth of 1,000 feet.

A self-styled black power leader was returned to Trinidad under heavy guard Thursday to face murder charges in a "garden of death" murder mystery. Abdul Malik, 38, also known as Michael X, was arrested Wednesday in Guyana, on the northeast coast of South America. He was brought to this southernmost Caribbean island nation aboard a commercial jet.

The Soviet Navy has sent a 15,000-ton cruiser, one of its biggest warships, to aid its crippled nuclear submarine adrift in the Atlantic, a U.S. Navy spokesman said. The 'Sverdlov' class cruiser is heading for the area 800 miles northeast of Newfoundland and may help to tow the submarine, first spotted in trouble by a U.S. patrol plane a week ago, he said.

George Lincoln, director of the Office of Emergency Preparedness said Thursday in Washington the unexpectedly heavy demand for low-cost natural gas will force U.S. prices up, bring on rationing and result in more imports.

Daylight time, approved in a plebiscite last August, to be implemented without delay.

A written record of debates and broadcasting and televising to be provided at twice-yearly sessions.

Efforts to be made to strengthen the family farm and declining income in agriculture, with a $50-million fund to cover all areas of agricultural credit and special programs for the small and the young farmer.

Improvements to be proposed in environmental control, including a new Litter Act and Land Surfaces Conservation Act.

A fund to be established to attempt to create a more diversified and better balanced provincial economy, with emphasis on new development in smaller centres.

Higher priority to be given to facilities and support for children with handicaps and learning disabilities and mental health reform to be accelerated.

Legislative committees to be formed to hold public hearings on foreign investment, communal properties, censorship, Election Act improvements, laws governing professions and occupations and crop insurance programs.

Position papers to be submitted to the legislature outlining policy positions on alternatives which may form the foundation for subsequent legislative or budget proposals.

Connally Sees New Deficit Before U.S. Balances Trade

WASHINGTON (CP) — Treasury Secretary John Connally said the United States probably will run another deficit this year before there is a swing in the balance of payments in U.S. favor.

He also told a congressional group on banking meeting here that the Nixon administration thinks Canadians "ought to go further than they're willing to go" in changing special trade arrangements favoring them, such as the Canada-U.S. auto pact and the exemption from the interest equalization tax.

In a wide-ranging discussion on international trade and monetary affairs, Connally also told the House of Representatives banking and currency committee:

"The U.S. probably will run another trade deficit in 1972, but in 1973 the present excess of imports over exports should be reversed. The deficit, however, will be less this year than last, he said, when it was $2 billion, excluding defence purchases."

"It was a fantasy to believe that significant trade with China will be opening up soon. China did about $4 billion in trade last year and 'We're only going to get a fraction of it.'"

GOLD STOCKS DEPLETED
On the dollar itself, Connally said the U.S. currency may never be returned to full convertibility into gold or other reserve assets.

Convertibility was suspended by President Nixon last Aug. 15 as claims on the U.S. gold stock rapidly outpaced the reserves available to meet them.

"The U.S. will not restore dollar convertibility 'as we know it, for some time, if ever," Connally told the committee.

If it is restored, "it will be under vastly different circumstances; it will be under new monetary rules," he said.

He said the administration would co-operate with other countries and with the International Monetary Fund in trying to smooth out the world exchange system before a fundamental reform can be negotiated.

President Nixon's bill to devalue the dollar by 8.57 per cent cleared the Senate by an 88-10 vote Wednesday.

The bill seeks to raise the official price of gold to $38 from $35 an ounce.

HOUSE VOTES NEXT WEEK
It now goes to the House where a vote is expected next week.

The devaluation bill carries out the administration's pledge made in December at a meeting of the wealthiest nations in the non-Communist world. At that session, major currencies were realigned and the United States gained an over-all advantage of 12 per cent against other currencies.

Connally said the U.S. sought a bigger realignment but "we got all we could get."

Connally said the question of whether Americans should be allowed to deal in gold should be considered in a separate bill in a later date and probably not until international monetary reform is a reality in a year or two.

"There are other things the people of the United States can gamble," he said. "They don't have to have gold."

Many Heart Patients Waiting For Operations In Vancouver

VICTORIA (CP) — There are 141 patients on the waiting list for open-heart surgery at the Vancouver General Hospital and only 10 a week are being operated on. Dr. Scott Wallace (PC-Oak Bay) told the B.C. legislature Thursday night.

The five cardiac specialists doing the operations say they could do 20 operations a week if they had a second operating room they have been requesting since 1958, he said.

Dr. Wallace told Health Minister Ralph Loffmark that he had gone to Vancouver to talk to the doctors recently because of an issue raised both inside and outside the legislature over heart care facilities and concluded that the basic problem was a lack of space.

"We are talking about a very dangerous and frequently fatal disease which is treatable," he said. "We have within our power the ability to save these 141 lives on the waiting list."

The debate on heart facilities began when Alex Macdonald (NDP-Vancouver East) raised the case of a mother whose New Westminster-based heart specialist does not have operating privileges at the VGH.

Samuel Emery Ross, 37, of Quesnel Thursday was charged with attempted murder in the shooting Wednesday of his wife, Pauline, who suffered a 22-caliber bullet wound in the chest. Mrs. Ross, also 37, was reported in critical but improved condition today.

In Coleraine, Northern Ireland a British government scientist testified Thursday six of 13 civilians killed in a clash with troops in Londonderry of the Office of Emergency Preparedness said Thursday in Washington the unexpectedly heavy demand for low-cost natural gas will force U.S. prices up, bring on rationing and result in more imports.

Revolutionary New Method Saves Badly Burned Woman

TORONTO (CP) — Plastic surgeons at Scarborough General Hospital's burn unit are using pigskin almost exclusively as dressings for severely burned patients following the remarkable recovery of a Kapuskasing, Ont., woman treated according to the revolutionary new technique.

The technique was developed and is used extensively by the Brooke Army Medical Centre in San Antonio, Texas. Scarborough General's burn unit, rated one of the best in Ontario, is the first to try it out in Canada.

Dr. Lloyd Carlsen, the hospital's senior plastic surgeon, said Thursday he has treated about 25 severely-burned patients with pigskin, notably Mrs. Rejean Rancourt, 29, of Kapuskasing.

The young mother took a smudge off her night gown last Sept. 19 with some cleaning fluid, then lit a cigarette. Her gown burst into flames and she suffered third-degree burns to almost 70 per cent of her body.

Since the accident, more than 100 square feet of pigskin from specially raised pigs in the United States have been employed by surgeons in treating her injuries.

Generally, burns to 40 per cent of the body are considered fatal, especially if they are third-degree. In Mrs. Rancourt's case, doctors told relatives at first there was little hope, but she'll be going home this month.

Dr. Carlsen said pigskins have been used by U.S. Army hospitals for nearly three years. "We've been using them for 18 months and we're the only hospital in Canada doing so."

The plastic surgeon said the Brooke medical research team was attempting to find a substitute for homografts—where skin is taken from one person and grafted on to another—when it ran across pigskin.

Constable Marcel Dufour and Guy Lessard said they had been watching the model since July and had reported it was being used extensively by prostitutes working for several "madams."

Constable Dufour said that after Insp. Gilles Bourgoin, then head of the morality squad, told Police Chief Jean-Jacques Saulnier of the proposed raid, the inspector told them "to let the thing drop. It was too big and we might run into influential people."

The constables were testifying at a Quebec Police Commission inquiry examining the conduct of Mr. Saulnier while he headed the morality squad in the 1960s and since he became chief in May, 1971.

Jean-Louis Leger, Mr. Saulnier's counsel, told the inquiry at the end of Thursday's hearing that the only witness left is Mr. Saulnier.

Insp. Bourgoin, in charge of the squad from September, 1969, to October, 1971, told the inquiry that Mr. Saulnier had not ordered the raid cancelled but had doubts about its value.

There was no question of cancelling the whole operation, but simply one of changing tactics, he said.

Constable Lessard said that during the entire investigation there had never been any question of cancelling the raid until the meeting with Mr. Saulnier.

Shortly thereafter the two constables were transferred from the morality squad. Insp. Bourgoin has told the inquiry they "were under a disciplinary inquiry opened after a citizen's complaint was filed."

In other testimony Thursday, Jean-Paul Picard, assistant chief inspector, said he could not remember discussing, at a March, 1969, meeting with Mayor Jean Drapeau, a document said to incriminate Mr. Saulnier.

Jean-Louis Leger, Mr. Saulnier's counsel, told the inquiry at the end of Thursday's hearing that the only witness left is Mr. Saulnier.

Insp. Bourgoin, in charge of the squad from September, 1969, to October, 1971, told the inquiry that Mr. Saulnier had not ordered the raid cancelled but had doubts about its value.

Brent's Creek Sewage Treatment Outlined

By GEORGE WHITELEY
Courier Staff

Over the years a trade waste treatment plant on Brent's Creek will not cost city taxpayers anything, according to city engineering director, Nelson Deck.

In an effort to clean up the creek, the city has agreed to build the plant with Calona Wines and Sun-Rype Products. It is being constructed with an eye to one or more industries coming in the future, and they will pay their share of the building costs as of this year.

Council has given two readings to a bylaw to approve an agreement with the industries, and sent it to provincial authorities for approval. It will be discussed fully before third reading is given.

UNUSUAL STEP

This unusual step was taken to expedite the matter, explained Mayor Hilbert Roth. Since Ald. Richard Stewart, chairman of the committee is on vacation, it was decided to postpone discussing the agreement until he returns.

The city will borrow $600,000 for 20 years to pay for the plant. Originally the principal and interest will be paid by the three participating industries and the city. Other industries, or increased use by the three, will pay the city share.

If all goes well, tenders will be called this month, and the plant will be ready in about six months, Mr. Deck said. The spartan-type plant will be at the east end of city land at Crowley Avenue and Ethel Street.

Sewage could not be handled in the pollution control centre on Raymer Avenue because it is not compatible with other sewage. At present most of the industrial waste goes into Brent's Creek.

The capacity of 500,000 gallons of sewage a day is based on the estimated needs of the industries, plus capacity for expansion. Industries will be charged each month for their guaranteed minimum amount of sewage, and charges will be adjusted at the end of each year, according to the amount of sewage actually produced.

SMALL LAGOON

Sewage will go into a small lagoon, where it will be mixed with air. Liquid will be clarified and mixed with chlorine before being put into the creek. Water will be removed from solid material, and it will be taken by truck to the sanitary landfill site in Glenmore. Biggest piece of equipment is a centrifuge, estimated to cost $85,000. Clarifiers are estimated to cost $38,000. The plant is being designed by a Seattle firm of consulting engineers.

About two men will be stationed at the plant. It will not be manned at all times, but an alarm will be located in the fire hall in case of emergencies.

At the regular meeting of the Okanagan Basin Water Board this week, a letter was acknowledged from the pollution control branch confirming issuance of a permit for the proposed treatment plant.

The letter indicated a comprehensive sampling and testing program of the trade waste and treated effluent had been established which will provide surveillance of the quality of the treated effluent. The letter further stipulates if the quality of effluent "should prove deleterious to the receiving waters," the director could act to amend the permit to "upgrade the works in accordance with section 10 of the act."

In the new Lakeview phone building, installer Ed Hacke operates a test console, while maintenance man Carl Kraft uses a scope to check the condition of equipment.

New Phone System In Effect Sunday In Lakeview Heights

Beginning Sunday, about 600 houses in the Lakeview Heights area will have new phone numbers.

Because of the way this area is burgeoning, Okanagan Telephone has taken it from the 762 and 763 exchanges, and set up a 769 exchange. It is located in a building on Anders Road near the main business area.

The building is designed as nearly as possible to fit in with surrounding homes. It is distinguished by a sign and telephone booth outside.

Inside, the building is as modern as tomorrow. In the old days the operators handled every call, but the new building has electronic switching equipment.

Calls within the exchange will be handled right from there, while calls to Kelowna and beyond will go to the St. Paul Street office on the submarine cables that handled calls from the Lakeview area.

FEW EMPLOYEES

In fact, there will be no employees in the building except for maintenance. An alarm will ring in the Kelowna office when there is trouble. An operator will be able to tell whether the problem is critical or can be attended to later.

Double protection is the name of the game. Of the two computers, one will be working, the other following ready to take over should the first one go wrong. Equipment was installed by Canadian Telephones and Supplies.

With conventional dials there is a wait between completion of dialling and the first ring. These happen almost simultaneously with the new system.

DIFFERENCES

There will be several differences under the new system. Probably the most important is that people calling from it will have to dial all seven digits. The computer is programmed to handle seven digits. Anyone who follows the long-established habit of using five digits will be connected to the familiar recording which says "I'm sorry, but..."

Dial tones, busy signals and ring back tones will sound different. There will be no "click" after each digit is dialled.

If you wait too long before dialling the whole number, you may have to start again.

An important point where there is more than one phone is that calls will be disconnected when one person hangs up. On conventional phones the connection remains so long as one person is hanging on. Lakeview customers who wish to continue talking on another phone in the same premises should not hang up the first phone until they have answered the second.

Party line customers wishing to call others on the same line should dial all digits of the number, hang up the receiver, wait for a reasonable time, then lift the receiver and talk. If the called person lifts his receiver before the caller does, a "ticking" sound will tell him someone wants to speak to him. The sound will stop when the caller picks up his receiver.

This is the second exchange in the Okanagan, and the tenth in Canada, where touch dialling will be available. Winfield exchange, finished last year, was the third Canadian exchange providing touch dialling.

The exchange cost $593,000, including $395,000 for equipment, $108,000 for outside plant and rearrangements, $65,000 for the building, and $25,000 for emergency power facilities to ensure continued service in the event of a power failure.

The equipment is designed for up to 2,400 customers. Initially 600 will be served. In August 200 will be added, with another 400 in August, 1973.

Study Group Wants Better Relationship

The Okanagan Basin study group will seek "firmer relationships and communication" with the Okanagan Basin Water Board on matters pertaining to the federal-provincial study currently underway in the Valley.

Reports on various studies being conducted by survey teams will be submitted to the board's technical committee following perusal by chairman Len Bawtree, and secretary-manager, William Parchomchuk. The board will also act as liaison with the study group on local feedback from various studies being conducted in the Valley.

A special press conference Thursday following a closed meeting with the board, also touched on the future role of the water board and objectives of the study group. Attending the meeting were study committee co-chairmen, John O'Riordan, provincial department of fisheries, and T. A. J. Leach, assistant chief engineer, water investigations branch; Forbes Boyd, of the department of fisheries; and E. H. Vernon, chief fisheries biologist with the fish and wildlife branch.

Other study committee members attending included Gordon Kidd, consultant to the study committee and the water board; Murray Stelzak, William Horswell, and Conrad Thomas socio-economic co-ordinator for the study.

SEEN and HEARD

A poor way to start a basketball tournament would be to have the wrong teams playing at the wrong time, and this is what may have happened for the Senior Boys' AA Valley basketball championships scheduled to start tonight at KSS. The schedule is for Revelstoke Mountaineers to meet Penticton Lakers at 7:30 p.m. and Rutland Voodoos to go against Kamloops Red Devils at 9 p.m. Revelstoke coach Brian Snyder is sure, however, that the constitution concerning the playoffs states that the northern second team (Revelstoke) is to meet the south's number one team (Penticton) at 9 p.m.

Spring just has to be around the corner. A local resident, who prefers to remain anonymous, reported coming across a pair of longjohns "spread-eagled" on the snow between the museum and the library this week. "Winter has to be over when they start shedding their underwear," she observed sagely.

Members of the cast of the Kelowna Little Theatre play Bus Stop were cold during their last two rehearsals. Wednesday night heavy snow kept producer Bill Bennett from getting in from Westbank, and no one else had the key to the building at Ellis Street and Clement Avenue. Thursday night the furnace was not working. The play will be presented about May.

IN COURT

Donald Augustine Eaton of Kelowna was placed on probation for two years this morning by Judge G. S. Denroche in provincial court. The youth was charged with assault causing bodily harm Feb. 5 in a Bernard Avenue restaurant.

On the same charge, David Earl Boniface of Kelowna was fined $250.

Danny Lloyd Fike of Calgary received a year on probation from Judge R. J. S. Moir. He was charged with possessing stolen property.

Diane Plisak of Kelowna also received a year on probation for false pretences. She passed a worthless cheque.

Daniel Grant Glatville of Westbank pleaded guilty to impaired driving. He was fined $300, and his driving privileges suspended for a month.

CLUBS BENEFIT BY $150 EACH

Five downtown service clubs each got about $150 as part of the proceeds of the first day of a redecorated Bernard Avenue restaurant. The Rotary, Gyro, Kinsmen, Lions and Kiwanis clubs split the proceeds of Sing's Restaurant from 9:30 a.m. Thursday to 2 a.m. today.

A Very Good Year For Credit Union

The Kelowna and District Credit Union had a growth ratio of 92 per cent in 1971, president Peter Heymington told the annual meeting Wednesday.

Mr. Heymington added the Rutland branch, opened in March of last year, had increased assets of 220 per cent during a 10-month period.

Business has been so good the union has been forced to expand its Ellis Street office (the largest in the city) to adjacent premises formerly occupied by B and B Paint Spot. One of the penalties of growth is exemplified in the fact the company will be forced to pay taxes for the first time, based on retained earnings. The levy is not expected to cause problems, since the union traditionally returns the vast majority of its earnings to members and retains only reserves necessary to comply with legal requirements.

Assets of the company were listed at the meeting by manager, Sid Humphries, as $18.1 million, with deposits up from $7.8 to $14.2 million. Loans had increased from $7.5 to $12 million.

Mr. Humphries stated further that the credit union was responsible for a "very substantial" portion of the mortgage financing in the community.

Other business included the re-election by acclamation for three-year terms of directors George Bowie, Ernest Hollingsworth, Daniel McMillan and John Thompson. William Newman was elected to fill the vacancy created by Tad Sakamoto, forced to retire due to business commitments. Mr. Sakamoto was presented with a gift from board members, and returned the sentiment with a gavel block to president Heymington.

In his address, Mr. Heymington expressed membership satisfaction with the board's stewardship. Members, in appreciation, voted a $5,000 honorarium to be divided among the 12 member board.

About 200 union members attended the meeting at the arena Centennial Hall.

Appears Ottawa Against Selling Building - Shaw

The Kelowna Downtown Business Association may soon tackle what could be the biggest challenge in its brief life—the future of the old post office.

The landmark at the corner of Bernard Avenue and Ellis Street has become a bit of a white elephant since its doors were closed in October of 1970. Although eyed longingly by numerous groups, little has been said by its owners, the federal Department of Public Works.

But Thursday night, local businessman Henry Shaw spoke with DBA directors and told them he had been contacted by Veterans' Affairs Minister Art Laing, former public works minister, who said he was "happy" over the interest shown by the DBA in the future of the building. The matter is now in the hands of new works minister Jean-Eudes Dube and MP Bruce Howard.

The DBA has, in effect, been asked for a submission, said Mr. Shaw, adding "It's evident the federal authorities don't know what to do with it, but it appears definite they don't want to sell it."

DBA president Basil Meikle said, "I think this presents a real challenge for us... we should forget about a concern for money and the value of the site." Whatever the DBA comes up with in the way of a proposal, however, should not involve renovating the present building, said Mr. Meikle.

Mr. Meikle, who was involved in an appraisal of the building for the federal government, cited the old Vernon post office, which was basically the same as the Kelowna building, as an example of why this should not take place.

The Vernon building was fixed up by a commercial venture, he said, "but as it turned out, if they had torn it down and rebuilt, they would have been much better off."

He suggested the 100 by 120 square foot site could be turned into a town square or a commercial venture with a parking facility.

"We'll have to be very careful," said DBA director Merv Lepper, "there is a lot of nostalgia around town over that old building."

The DBA's final submission will likely come out of discussions by a committee comprised of a city representative, architects and the DBA's Pat Parker and Mr. Meikle. Their ideas will in turn be presented at the association's general meeting slated for March 14.

Thumbs-Down From Williston To Weed Harvester Proposal

A plan by the Okanagan Basin Water Board to clean up the weed problem on Okanagan Lake with a special weed harvesting machine was dashed by Resources Minister, Ray Williston.

At its last meeting, the board decided to ask the provincial government to lease one of the machines from a U.S. firm to help clean up some of the aquatic growth on the lake. As outlined by company representative, John Booth, the system is capable of cleaning a body of water to a depth of five feet at a rate of about an acre an hour. The weed-eater consists of a harvester, transporter and shore conveyor with a package price of $49,000. The system can be rented for $40 a hour or $60 an acre.

In reply to the board's query on the matter, Mr. Williston pointed out his department "does not accept responsibility for weed control on lakes," adding there was "nothing of a legislative nature" requiring the province to become financially involved in such matters. He added his office was studying the general problem of aquatic weed growth in lakes, and it was anticipated the study would be completed within the next two months, including the engineering aspects of weed control.

The minister said he would be in a "better position" to know what action was possible to alleviate the problem when results of the current study are available.

"I am advised the harvesting of nuisance weeds, as suggested in your letter, would give some measure of temporary control while minimizing any undesirable effects," the minister continued, adding, "however, the timing of this operation would be critical and the use of proper equipment to avoid scatter of weed fragments important."

A motion by P. A. Farmer rejecting the minister's explanation was later withdrawn by the mover, and a subsequent motion by W. C. Bennett requesting a meeting with the minister as soon as possible to discuss the matter, was approved.

NO INJURIES

Don Nourse and Randy Janek of Kelowna were driving vehicles in collision Thursday night on the Capri Shopping Centre parking lot. About $300 damage resulted, with no injuries reported.

FILING TIPS

You And Your Taxes

Having problems with those irritating income tax forms? The Courier will attempt to answer some of your most asked questions through the Penticton branch of the National Revenue through this series of articles.

Question: My personalized tax return is made out in my maiden name. I was married last year and I do have to file an income tax return now, but what do I do about the tax return that was sent to me?

Answer: Be sure to make the necessary changes on your income tax return by striking out your maiden name, entering your married name in the "Correction" area immediately below the label on your income tax return, and mailing the form in the usual way.

Question: What should I do about my income tax return if my address has changed since last year?

Answer: If your address is now different, make the necessary changes on your income tax return and do this in the "Correction" area immediately below the label. Also, be sure it is the labelled return you send to the Data Centre. If you moved after filing your return and have claimed a refund on your tax return, write to your District Taxation Office informing them of the change of address. Many refund cheques are delayed each year as a result of taxpayers changing their addresses after filing, and not notifying their District Office of this change.

Question: On my personalized income tax return, a number is printed on the label with my name and address. What is this number and should I quote it if I have to get in touch with the Income Tax Department?

Answer: The number which is printed on the form with your name and address is a special account number which is made up from letters of your surname, your date of birth and other identifying factors. This number enables the Taxation Department to positively identify you, and also enables the computer to match your return with that of last year and thus speed up the processing of your current return. Your social insurance number is also shown on the income tax return and, in correspondence with the Taxation Department, it is important to use the account number or social insurance number so that any unnecessary delay will be avoided.

ROTH, BENNETT CLASH

Outfall Study Move 'Premature'

Mayor Hilbert Roth has reiterated his previous stand that it was "premature" for the Okanagan Basin Water Board to be the vehicle for a feasibility study for removal of all outfalls in Okanagan Lake.

A resolution recommending the measure was approved by the Regional District of Central Okanagan at a Feb. 2 meeting, at which time Mayor Roth advocated delay of the study by the basin board since the government study might suggest some form of financing.

He told the regular meeting of the basin board, Thursday that decision on the resolution should "wait" for completion of the government study.

"We're all concerned about the lake, and we all want to do what is right," he said. He added, "for the benefit of farmers," the city was experimenting with tertiary treatment, and Vernon was also examining land disposal of effluent.

Regional district chairman, W. C. Bennett, disagreed with Mayor Roth, and urged the board to "get things started."

Sharing approval of the resolution, basin board chairman, Len Bawtree, acknowledged the

W. C. BENNETT
... get on with it

MAYOR HILBERT ROTH
... no authority

responsible attitude of city centres toward outfall removal, but reminded there were many other outfalls elsewhere in the Valley which were not given consideration by communities involved.

Mr. Bennett repeated his suggestion the board act on the resolution and observed when outfalls were removed from the lake other alternatives could be investigated. He said the three large centres of Kelowna, Vernon and Penticton "can't afford to ask the taxpayer to do it alone (remove outfalls)," and that since society was responsible for installing outfalls in the lake, it was "up to society as a whole to protect the lake." He admitted the most important facet about the project was financing.

P. A. Farmer said he agreed with Mayor Roth, since "a great deal of information" would accrue from the government Okanagan basin study. He warned the basin board could "duplicate" the work of the study group on the outfall question.

In disagreement, Mr. Bennett said the board would work in conjunction with the study group.

Pursuing his point further, Mayor Roth said the basin board had "no authority" and there was no point in implementing a study on outfalls if the board had no power.

Discussion was finally resolved with approval of a motion supporting the regional district resolution with an amendment designating that the question of financing be a "top priority" consideration.

Faster Pace Predicted For Exports This Year

Canadian exporters will be operating in an expansionary environment this year, according to the Bank of Montreal's Business Review.

Last year the growth of exports was the lowest recorded in over a decade, and had it not been for the strong 10 per cent increase in exports to the U.S., Canada's overall external sales would have suffered a decline.

However, in assessing current business conditions abroad, and the relative movement of international prices arising from alterations in production costs and in exchange rates, the Bank feels "that exports will move up at a substantially faster pace, while domestically-oriented industries should be in a good position to withstand foreign competition in the home market."

Paradoxically, while unemployment has been on the high side, in most of Canada's big customer countries, consumer expenditure represented one of the strongest components in overall demand, and this strong demand is expected to continue during the current year.

The explanation to this apparent anomaly is the wage explosion in Europe and Japan which during 1969 and 1970 saw year-over-year wage increases in excess of 10 per cent with Japan holding the record at 18.5 per cent in 1970. It is therefore not surprising that consumer expenditure in Europe and Japan accelerated by 10 to 15 per cent in 1970 and 1971.

"The weakest component of overall demand at the present time is business fixed investment. In Europe and Japan, this weakness is mainly the result of a cyclical downturn reinforced, until recently, by restrictive fiscal and monetary policies."

As a result, current stimulative policies are mainly directed towards increasing investment expenditures, and the overall impression is that, with the exception of Germany, strong demand conditions, coupled with an improved business confidence, should provide considerable impetus to the growth of output in most industrialized countries.

It is likely that demand for foreign goods in Canada's most important market, the United States, will slow down considerably this year. Last year's copper strike together with stockpiling in preparation for the dock strike and the potential threat of a strike in the steel industry all contributed to the estimated 13 per cent increase in U.S. imports. For 1972 U.S. imports will be strong but likely to decline to nine per cent.

By A. E. BRIDGES
Fire Commissioner

Every year serious fires occur while buildings are under construction. A few do happen when workmen are on the job but the critical fire risk period is from quitting time to starting work time the next day, says Alberta Fire Commissioner A. E. Bridges.

Three fires involving construction jobs in the last three weeks point out the problem. Something went wrong. Somebody blundered and it will be the task of the insurers to sort out the liability and try to fix responsibility.

These recent fires occurred at Calgary, St. Albert and at Bentley and the types of buildings involved were an apartment block, a senior citizens' high rise and a school. The total value of materials and services lost is estimated at over $400,000.

It is evident that fires in buildings under construction accelerate rapidly and therefore result in heavy fire loss before fire departments can bring them under control.

Watchmen service, if carefully controlled, is a big factor in fire prevention and in early discovery of fire, but someone has to have the foresight to have the watchmen service clearly specified in the contract.

With all the advances in technology for provision of approved materials, regulations on design and construction, protection services for fire control, still the whole investment of hundreds and thousands of dollars hangs upon the tenuous thread of plain watchfulness and responsibility in the hours of the night.

Most amazing yet evident from the record, some big construction jobs have no provision either for automatic detection or for watchmen service during off hours.

Screening Parolee

(Victoria Times)

An apparent difference between two Vancouver judges and the National Parole Board has focused interest on one of the difficulties experienced in the latter's rehabilitative efforts for prisoners. Judges Bewley and Eckhardt say that because so few judicial submissions are heeded, most judges do not bother to make parole recommendations.

Judge Bewley goes further. He advocates judicial veto powers on board decisions, he says, because, of the large number of parolees persons who commit new offences. This is a hazard inherent in the parole system. In an effort to aid rehabilitation of the convicted offender—and for other reasons—the parole board favors giving approved prisoners a measure of freedom.

Inevitably some of those so treated will abuse the privileges extended to them. Their failure to respond to help automatically places a black mark on the parole board—an indication of human failure. If too many failures occur, the effectiveness of the parole system is brought into serious doubt.

One method of reducing the failure rate could be greater care in screening candidates for parole. And that screening should benefit from a report by the trial judge on the character and potential of the convicted person as noted during his trial. The judge's assessment need not necessarily be 100 per cent correct, and veto powers over-riding the board's decision may be too extreme.

At the same time the opinion of the person presiding over a trial should be valuable in assessing the suitability of the candidate for parole. It could help to tighten the screening process and save the parole system from disrepute due to screening that sometimes is too loose.

CAPITAL COMMENT

It's Refreshing To Give Praise

By FARMER TISSINGTON

OTTAWA — It appears sometimes as if the news media spends most of its time being critical of the federal government and of individual cabinet ministers for errors of omission and commission.

So, when a cabinet minister does something, or makes an announcement, that rates almost universal praise, it is refreshing to be able to report and comment about it.

Such a case occurred recently when Jean Chretien, minister of Indian affairs and northern development, made a speech in the Commons and then held a press briefing to reveal the decision to establish three new and large parks in our far north.

They are Klunene park in the Yukon Territory, an area of 8,500 square miles; a park along the South Nahanni River in the Northwest Territories with an area of 1,840 square miles; and the first park above the Arctic Circle, an 8,200-square-mile area on Baffin Island.

UNIQUE, FANTASTIC

The wild and wondrous country encompassed by these three new parks contains such things as the highest mountain peak in Canada, one of the world's largest non-polar icefields, outstanding glaciers, a waterfall twice as high as Niagara, three major canyons reaching 4,000 feet in height, a vast number of caves and sulphur hot springs, spectacular fjords and deeply carved mountains, massive ice caps and mountain ranges that reach as high as 7,000 feet.

The decision to set aside this land for the use of Canadians and visitors to Canada, free of exploitation and pollution, increases the total of our national park land more than 50 per cent to almost 50,000 square miles. As Mr. Chretien describes it, the new parks are "unique and fantastic and will rank among the world's most spectacular national parks."

The development of our national parks system is something about which all Canadians can be proud. A great deal of development has taken place in the short span of three to four years, with 10 new parks having been created in that time. In the preceding 10 years, only two parks were opened. Canadians now have 28 national parks in a network from sea to sea and, for the first time, outstanding natural areas in every province and both northern territories are represented.

A logical question about the three new parks is: Who will use them? They are, after all, pretty remote from most parts of Canada. Access is not all that easy and it will take many years to develop them properly. But Mr. Chretien notes that it wasn't too many years ago, at the time the government decided to acquire the Banff national park, that skeptics asked the same questions about that now highly popular area.

WIDE INVESTMENT

The new parks are a wise investment in the future of Canada and an excellent way of preserving some of our most magnificent wilderness areas for the enjoyment of all the people for generations to come.

To add icing to Mr. Chretien's cake, he also revealed that eight of our inland canals are being transferred from the department of transport to the conservation program of his own department. This is a significant step forward in the development of some of the greatest natural assets in the more highly developed parts of the country.

I am familiar with two of the major canals in Ontario, the Rideau and the Trent-Severn. Anything that can be done to develop these as outstanding recreational areas and to preserve their park, wild life habitat and historical values deserves a round of applause, especially at a time when such natural assets are becoming harder and harder to find.

A comment about Mr. Chretien's hour of triumph would be incomplete without an acknowledgment of the fine job of his department's information division who set up the briefing for MPs and press. Information chief Ken White, assistant Shirley Popham and others, spent a lot of time and effort on scale models of the parks, on large photos, slides, maps, booklets, and what-have-you. Several of the chief people in the national parks branch, including director Jack Nicol, were available to add to the store of information. As one newspaperman commented after attending the hearing: Who needs information Canada?

Canada's Maritime Excellence Draws Customers Away From U.S.

WASHINGTON (CP) — Canadian maritime excellence and efficiency is encouraging U.S. shippers to bypass American ports and ship through Canadian ports, chairman Helen Delich Bentley of the U.S. federal maritime commission said today in warning the trend could cause "irreparable harm" in the U.S.

While expressing admiration for Canadian progress "which thus far has eluded us," she warned that "questionable" practices may be involved and said the commission has hired a private organization to study the situation.

Mrs. Bentley was addressing the annual conference of the New York State University Maritime College in New York. Text of her remarks was released by her office here.

"In Canada, the regulatory atmosphere and the labor climate, together with aggressive rail and steamship managements, results in a carrier ability to put together and offer a viable intermodal service," she said. But in the U.S., labor-management indifference and the lack of competitive spirit by railroads and steamship lines "combine to delay us."

FAVORS CANADA

She noted that considerable Canadian export-import cargo moves through U.S. ports but said the balance of business is heavily weighed in Canada's favor.

"U.S. cargoes over Canadian routings do not move to published ocean rates," she said, with rates on virtually all the desirable cargoes tailor-made to meet the requirements and desires of the particular shipper. In some cases this meant "absorption of all or part of the overland cost to the carrier's vessel," she added.

"More bluntly stated, the Canadian carrier, unhampered by regulation as we know it, can wheel and deal. He can do whatever he must do to entice the cargo to his routing. There is no Canadian maritime commission to look askance at his practices. I seriously doubt if this is healthy competition."

An earlier commission staff report, based on "scent" information available, said it appeared that some carriers serving Canada and the U.S. were engaging in rate practices that were questionable under the U.S. Shipping Act of 1910. The staff also found, "much to its surprise, that Canadian cargoes were being delivered through U.S. ports at rates lower than the rates which apply to cargoes tendered at those ports."

EXPRESS SURPRISE

Canadian and some American officials and shippers had expressed surprise that this should concern the commission. But if further study indicates unfair practices on rates, carriers "will discover first-hand that the commission is very much concerned."

Preliminary figures in the study now in progress show that prior to 1971—the year of the extended U.S. longshore strike—approximately 308,000 tons of export, liner-type cargoes were diverted through Canadian ports. In the same period, 255,000 tons of such cargoes were diverted from Canada through U.S. ports.

Referring to labor costs, she said it costs $143 per gang-hour for container handling at the port of New York while in Montreal the cost per gang-hour was only $49.

Most Of Man's Diseases Blamed On Lowly Viruses

More and more the suspicion is spreading among scientists that the virus is implicated in nearly all of man's diseases, from the common cold to cancer. The following second of two articles on the virus and the link with disease tells what is being done to combat the deadly enemy.

By BRIAN SULLIVAN

NEW YORK (AP) — Many scientists are beginning to look at a wide range of human disease from a new point of view: that the initial damage was done by a virus.

"This is a more popular way of looking at disease than just a few years ago," says Dr. Sol Spiegelman, a virus and breast cancer researcher at Columbia University.

"It is a tremendously rapidly developing field," says immunobiologist Robert Good of the University of Minnesota. "We're just beginning to scratch the surface of the fantastic world of virus infections."

Scientists have suspected a link between viruses and cancer, and now it's been suggested that even heart attacks and arteriosclerosis may be the result of early viral damage. Further, researchers are now looking for a possible viral role in diseases of the central nervous system, such as multiple sclerosis.

A result of this explosion in virus research, and with virus diseases becoming more important as antibiotics cure bacterial illnesses, one leading cardiologist suggests that virology laboratories should be set up across the United States for doctors to use in their daily dealing with patients.

NEED BETTER FACILITIES

In America today, we have good bacteriology, says Dr. George E. Burch of Tulane University. "We can isolate staph and strep, but there are very poor facilities for the study of viruses and the diseases due to viruses. We should establish, all over America, virology labs for doctors to make use of in their services to patients."

Burch, who has suggested the viral role in heart disease, also believes there should be more research in such areas as the relationship of bacterial and viral infections, suggesting that a strep infection might condition a person for a viral infection.

Further, he says, there should be a study of multiple infections, of several viruses acting at the same time and of their combined effect.

One avenue of research is concerned with so-called "slow viruses," viruses that do not produce any effect until as long as years after the initial infection.

The common cold sore is caused by herpes simplex virus, for example, and once you are infected, you carry it for the rest of your life.

SLOW VIRUS IMPLICATED

Animal research on slow viruses is relatively recent, the National Multiple Sclerosis Society notes. It was only 15 years ago that a slow virus was implicated in a disease called visna, a central nervous system disease of Icelandic sheep. Later another virus was found to cause scrapie, another sheep central nervous system disease.

Symptoms of either disease do not show up until about five years after the animals have been infected. And a slow virus is believed to cause a human neurological disease called kuru.

One of the newest advances in virology could explain how slow viruses work.

Dr. Theodor O. Diener, a plant pathologist for the federal agriculture department in Beltsville, Md., has discovered what he says is a "viroid," the smallest known agent that is infectious.

Diener says the viroid is the cause of a potato disease, spindle tuber disease. He has speculated that a viroid is a primitive agent that has not developed the genetic sophistication to protect itself with a protein coat.

"Diener is convinced that many plant and animal diseases are probably caused by viroids," the agriculture department says. "Methods developed by Diener now make it possible to isolate and identify such particles."

Conceivably, a viroid would provoke a weak immune reaction in the body. This immune reaction is the body's natural defence mechanism against foreign invaders, accounting for the tendency of the body to reject a transplanted heart, for example.

The weak immune reaction could account for the ability of a slow virus or viroid to persist for long periods for years, before acting. Therefore, viroids could be the agents responsible for human diseases believed to be caused by a virus, but for which scientists have been unable to isolate a virus.

One of these diseases, Diener said, could be multiple sclerosis, a neurological disease. Other neurological diseases that could be explained by viroids, he said, are scrapie, the sheep disease, and kuru, the disease of New Guinea natives.

In the face of all this virus research and speculation, the possibility arises that no disease is free of viral implication. Presented with this speculation, Spiegelman, the Columbia virus expert, commented:

"That's right."

CANADA'S STORY

Tom Scott Killed Kneeling At Coffin

By BOB BOWMAN

Although Louis Riel was hanged for leading the Northwest Rebellion of 1885, historians believe that he might have escaped with a lighter sentence if he had not killed Thomas Scott in the Red River uprising of 1870.

Scott was surveyor who had been working on the Dawson road from Lake Superior to Fort Garry. He was a rough, tough character who assaulted his boss, John A. Snow, and led a strike. He was dismissed from the job and went to the Red River area where he became an active member of the Canadian party.

During the Red River uprising he tried to capture Louis Riel but failed and was put in prison. He was abusive to the guards and used a great deal of foul language about Riel, who finally ordered him to be tried by court-martial for rebelling against his provisional government.

The trial on March 3, 1870, was a mockery of justice. The "council of war," as it was called, was presided over by Ambrose Lepine, one of Riel's chief aides. Riel acted as prosecutor and chief witness. Scott was not allowed to call any witnesses on his own behalf and was sentenced to be shot by a firing squad.

He was made to kneel beside a coffin in the snow of an open courtyard and was blasted by the guns of the firing squad. Even so, he was not killed and one of the Metis had to put a bullet through his head with a revolver.

Many people in Protestant Ontario were enraged. A reward of $5,000 was offered for Riel's capture and this was one of the reasons why Riel was not able to take his seat in the House of Commons in Ottawa in 1874 although he had been elected as the member for Provencher.

Couple Kneel As Cousin Sings 'Wedding Prayer'

Margaret Lily Grapentin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Helmut Grapentin of Kelowna, and Edward George Bonk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Bonk of Port Alberni, exchanged vows in Evangel Tabernacle Church, Kelowna, Sunday.

Rev. Glen Richmond of Vancouver officiated with Rev. Arthur Kahle of Kelowna assisting.

The soloist was the cousin of the bride, Wesley Alchele of Kelowna. He sang "The Wedding Prayer" over the kneeling couple and "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register. Mr. Alchele was accompanied by Shelia Carlson of Kelowna on the organ and Mrs. Inis Domeij, also of Kelowna, on the piano.

CANDELABRA
The church had two stands of candelabra and a third with three candles. Baskets of mauve, blue, and pink flowers with white daisies were part of the decorations. Ribbons marked off the pews.

The bride was given in marriage by her father.

She wore a gown of soft white tulle with a bodice designed by the bride and sewn by her grandmother, Mrs. Henry Bresch. The gown was fashioned on an empire waist with slight gathering at the sides and back. The neckline carried a choker look with a sheer bodice inset. The fully gathered bishop sleeves and long cuffs and attached sweeping train, along with the gown and train were covered in designs of French Guipure lace appliques. Her headpiece was of delicate illusion veil with leaves and pearls dropping in front.

The headpiece held a veil of three tiers layered with Guipure lace appliques. Drifting from the sides of the headpiece and under the layers was a mantle veil of silk illusion bordered with a dainty Venice lace. She carried a bouquet of white roses sprayed with blue and green leaves in between.

SOMETHING OLD
A lace handkerchief belonging to the bride's late grandmother was "something old," while a blue garter was "something blue." The bride also wore a watch which was a gift from the groom.

MR. AND MRS. EDWARD BONK

The maid of honor was Ruth Bonk, the sister of the groom. The bridesmaids were Lawana Kiewell of North Vancouver, Elise Mack of Edmonton and Darlene Bielert of Barrhead, Alta.

The candle lighters were Gloria Grapentin of Calgary and Karin Bielert of Barrhead. The flower girls were Marilee Kahle and Kathy Mack both of Kelowna. The ring carrier was Lori Ann Murphy of Kelowna.

The bridesmaids were dressed in crystal blue peau de ean, empire waist A-line skirts, long fitted sleeves and attached trains. Necklines, wrists and waists were trimmed in white daisies. The chokers were of blue peau de ean with pearls. White satin roses made the bouquets.

The headaddresses for the bridesmaids were bands of white and blue satin roses with green leaves. Under their chins were ribbon ties.

The best man was Dennis Jansen of Vancouver. The ushers were Donald Grapentin of Kelowna, Mark Moody of Longview, Wash., and Rick Richmond of Victoria.

For the reception at Elks Hall, the bride's mother received wearing a long formal gown of embossed brocade of mint green and soft tulle.

The groom's mother was dressed in a long formal of embossed crepe in white and apricot.

The bride wore a light mauve three piece pantsuit with a mid vest. Dark purple sued shoes, purse, gloves and velvet hat completed the outfit. She wore a white gardenia corsage.

Toasts were proposed by the uncle of the bride, Heinz Grapentin and the best man Dennis Jansen.

In the centre of the bride's table was a big Bible belonging to the bride's mother flanked by two table candelabra. The cake, which was baked by the bride's mother and grandmother, was on a side table. It was set on a lace tablecloth made by Mrs. Lydia Bielert.

The newlyweds will reside in Port Alberni and shortly thereafter move to Medicine Hat, Alta.

ANN LANDERS

Eager Samplers Need Guidelines

Dear Ann Landers: About a year ago my two teenage daughters sent away for your booklet on necking and petting and where to draw the limits. They said it was a good booklet and they learned a lot from it. But they disagreed with your advice that a couple should keep both feet on the floor at all times.

They insist that a couple who get their minds to it can get into plenty of trouble even when both feet are on the floor. We had quite a discussion on this subject and I had to admit they were right, especially when it comes to standing close together and kissing good-night.

The older girl is 16 now and she has a steady boyfriend. I often find them lying on the couch, side by side, watching TV. The door to the den is usually wide open and there's always a dim light in the room.

When I see them like this I say, half joking, "Remember now—Ann Landers says 'both feet on the floor.'"

They yell back, "Yeah, Old Annie has a thing or two to learn, somebody ought to tell her the facts of life."

I have no answer to that line and I hope you can provide me with one.

Will you try? They promised to listen.

F.S. What do you think of passion marks? The kids call them hickies. Also, last week when we came home early from a movie our daughter and her steady were upstairs. We didn't realize he was in the house until both came down ten minutes later. My daughter said he was in her bedroom looking at her bulletin board. What do you think? —Old-Fashioned Mother Little Rock

Dear Old Mother: I think these kids can use all the information they can get, plus a little closer supervision. They sound healthy, normal, eager and ready to sample all of life's goodies. Continue to keep the lines of communication open between you and your daughters and write again if you feel the need.

Dear Ann Landers: Our son is three years old. For the past six months he has been waking up between 3 and 4 a.m. screaming. He says he is afraid of the dark. I try to comfort him and tell him there is nothing to be afraid of but it usually takes about 15 minutes to quiet him down.

WOMEN'S EDITOR, MRS. H. R. GREER

BELGIAN WOMAN NOW KNOWS MAN SHE HELPED IS ALIVE

MILTON, Ont. (CP) — For 30 years John Henry Watson wondered who was the brave Belgian woman who hid him from the Germans for five days during the Second World War and got him back to Britain.

He learned Wednesday she is Rene van Reeth of Schoten who now will know he made it to safety.

The key to the 30-year puzzle was a silver identification wristlet hidden from the Germans for three years in a ball of wool and treasured by Mrs. van Reeth for another 27 years.

Mr. Watson, an RCAF navigator in the Second World War and now, at 58, personnel officer for Hailon County, met Mrs. van Reeth's daughter, Jacqueline van der Hoop of Toronto, in the county building in this town 20 miles west of Toronto.

Mrs. van der Hoop gave Mr. Watson her mother's address and said:

"I won't tell mother I've found you. I'll let you write first."

Contact was made when the department of veterans affairs at Ottawa identified the wristlet.

On June 19, 1942, PO Watson was navigating a bomber of 419 Squadron on a raid to Essen, Germany. An engine failed and the crew bailed out. The pilot was killed. Sgt. Eric Winkler, the radio operator and now Ontario's minister of financial and commercial affairs, and the gunner were captured. Watson got free.

Watson was found on the Dutch-Belgian border by a farmer who took him to the home of British-born Mrs. van Reeth.

She hid him but did not tell him her name for fear that if he were captured, he would be forced to tell it.

Dressed in peasant's clothes, Watson was later taken to Antwerp, then Brussels and the escape route to Britain.

Mrs. van Reeth kept the wristlet and asked her daughter, now living in Toronto, to find out whether her Canadian flyer had survived the war.

Mrs. van der Hoop told a Toronto newspaper the number of hours the department in Ottawa had Mr. Watson on the telephone.

Incubators costing $400 each were sent to such places as Old Crow, Haines Junction, Gjoa Haven and Fort Resolution.

At Lake Harbour, Grise Fiord and Belcher Island, N.W.T., the new incubators accompanied units for traveling nursing stations, which follow nomadic or migrating Eskimo communities.

EASY DOES IT
By WIN PACKER

I have had several people inquiring about cleaning oil paintings and the best advice I can give is—don't if the oil painting is of value, consult a professional restorer who can do the job or advise you how to proceed with the cleaning.

Upon making inquiries of a curator at an art museum I was advised that they use a soft brush or absorbent cotton moistened with dry-cleaning fluid, applied with a light hand to remove the surface dust. The canvas must be firmly and uniformly supported from the reverse while any pressure is being put upon the face of the painting. I was told never to clean with any of the old-fashioned home treatments using bread crumbs, erasers, raw potato or oil of any kind.

Some of these may improve the appearance temporarily but all can be harmful if improperly applied. A dull surface can sometimes be brightened by the use of a good-quality wax emulsion cream furniture polish, following the manufacturer's directions carefully.

The thin film of wax left on the surface is a safe and moderately durable protection for the painting.

Hospital Auxiliary Hears Talk On Household Drugs

John Dyck, vice-president of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Association, was guest speaker at the February meeting of the Kelowna Hospital Auxiliary. His talk on drugs, particularly the everyday household drugs, was most informative. Mr. Dyck pointed out that parents have a tendency to abuse such drugs and, in so doing, set a poor example for their young children.

Mrs. Len Leathley, director of volunteer services, presented her annual report for 1971. This service, which has grown considerably, currently has 160 adult volunteers and 40 candy strippers who gave a total of 13,230 hours to patient care and comfort. Further, approximately 1,000 hours of assistance was given by a group of volunteers in psychiatry.

The financial statements for the past year have now been completed indicating a net profit from fund raising projects of $4,800 and a net profit from projects in the Kelowna General Hospital of $9,237 for a total of $13,037.

Throughout the year, the auxiliary purchased a cryosurgical unit, a crash cart, a color television set, a record player, six televisions for use in the auxiliary's television service, an incubator for the nursery, the television for use in extended care and smocks, uniforms and crests for volunteers. The total cost of these purchases was $4,774.

Mrs. Donald McConachie, convener of this year's Blossom Time Fair, told the members that the date of the fair has been set for May 6 from 12 to 4 p.m. on the grounds behind city hall. The fair, a major fund-raising event of the auxiliary, requires a great deal of organization and hard work from the members and relies upon the public for assistance. Anyone having articles suitable for the following booths, please contact Mrs. McConachie at 768-5995.

Plants, white elephant, aprons, home baking, boutique, togs for mods (nearly new clothes, size infant to 14), and children's toys, books and games. A motion was passed to give $25 to the pediatric ward play therapy service for the purchase of toys, games and other equipment to help occupy the children in hospital. This volunteer service commenced in November and is proving to be a worthwhile and delightful project.

Anyone interested in becoming a hospital volunteer may do so by contacting Mrs. Leathley at 764-4287; those interested in joining the Kelowna Hospital Auxiliary, contact Mrs. G. Thorkelson at 764-4863.

What square dancing means to me. — Someone, somewhere, wrote that "square dancing is joy in motion." How true that is. I enjoy so much seeing a group of dancers moving smoothly to the beat of the music, but more than that—I enjoy being part of that joy in motion.

I enjoy and am interested in learning something new, the challenge of getting myself through a new square with the help of seven other dancers, but I enjoy more the comfort and smoothness of dancing the old and familiar squares.

More than all this, I enjoy the people—the people who brought me into square dancing, the people who held out a helping hand when I was a very unsure beginner, the people who welcomed me to the club, to the square, the people who accepted me as one of themselves, the people who are now numbered among my best friends. Yes, more than the dancing, more than 'joy in motion,' I like the people in square dancing.

Till next week Happy Square Dancing.

Four Teams Vie For Honors For Valley AA Championship

One piece of news which comes of interest to opposing teams is that Ray Ewing will be suited up and ready to play for Revelstoke Mountaineers in the Senior Boys AA Valley Basketball championship this weekend at KSS.

Revelstoke Laker coach Fred Fedorak doesn't seem to be worried about this, though, and pins his hopes on an admittedly inconsistent squad.

Lakers and Mountaineers will meet in the first game of the two-day Valley finals at 7:30 p.m. tonight. Rutland Voodoos will go against Kamloops Red Devils in the nightcap at 9 p.m. One oddity about the tourney is that both the north and south pulled switches in their playoffs. Mountaineers rolled up a 12-0 league record, but lost by a wide margin to Red Devils in their final to take a second berth from the north.

Rutland Voodoos posted a 10-2 season record to win the south, but were no match for second place Lakers in the playoff finals.

Ewing has been out for about three weeks, with a badly sprained ankle. Mountaineer coach Brian Snyder said Thursday, "He came along well and will probably start for us against Lakers."

Ewing dressed for Revelstoke's game against Salmon Arm to decide the second berth, but wasn't used as Mountaineers took an easy win.

Ewing was the league's top scorer until his practice mishap, but teammate Mike McKay took over the leadership and took the scoring title. McKay, standing 6'10", is a tough man to stop on the backboards but Fedorak feels that Ewing and Rick Devlin did the most damage in an earlier meeting of the two teams.

"McKay hurt us from the foul line and on the boards, but Ewing and Devlin did the most damage, Fedorak said. Lakers lost the earlier contest by an 11-point margin.

Red Devils will be hurting when they meet Voodoos in the nightcap, with floor leader Mario Comazzetto watching from the sidelines. Comazzetto was injured late in the game against Mountaineers and will be out for two or three weeks.

Kamloops coach Jack Bucken juggled his lineup and plans to insert Jerry Borchert in Comazzetto's place. With the moderate scorer but floor leader missing, Tim Dallin, Hodger Blumenscheit and Ken Miller are expected to pick up most of the slack.

And slack is exactly what coach Bucken is worried about. Like Lakers, he claims his main problem is inconsistency. Red Devils had one of these games when they met Voodoos recently in a league game, and were no problem to the Rutland squad.

Voodoos go into their first games as favorites to make the finals, based on their earlier performance against Devils with Comazzetto and the absence of the Kamloops leader.

Voodoo coach Alf Davy doesn't single out any members of his team, but Darryl Weninger and Ken Angus are singled out by opponents as two to watch on the team. Both are frequently top scorers in games, but Voodoo's offensive unit shares the points evenly with no player actually dominating the statistics.

Game times for Saturday's action have been changed, with the consolation final starting at 6:30 p.m. and the championship final at 8 p.m. The Valley championship heads into further provincial playoffs.

Youthful Pat Dennis Sobchuk Sure Bet For NHL Draft Pick

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Dennis Sobchuk of Regina Pats is only 17 years old but hockey scouts say he is a sure thing to be a high draft choice next spring and play in the National Hockey League.

Sobchuk fired three goals as Regina Pats overcame Medicine Hat Tigers 3-1 in a Western Canada Junior League game Thursday night.

Sobchuk's three goals and two assists put him over the 100 mark in points, the seventh WCHL player to do so this season.

In other WCHL games Thursday night, Brandon Wheat Kings beat Winnipeg Jets 6-2. Swift Current Broncos upset Edmonton Oil Kings 3-3 and Calgary Centennials and New Westminster Bruins played a 2-2 overtime game.

Three games are scheduled tonight: Victoria Cougars at Regina, Calgary at Vancouver Nats and Edmonton at Winnipeg.

Regina consolidated its hold on first place in the eastern division with the win in Medicine Hat. The Tigers remained in fourth place in the western division.

Other scorers for Regina were Al Brett, with two, Mark Gillies, Glen Toner, Mike Wanchuk and Ken Marit.

Stan Weir, Derek Kuntz and Boyd Anderson counted for the Tigers.

At Brandon, the Wheat Kings scored six consecutive goals against Winnipeg but the win may prove costly. Robbie Neale, Kings' top point-getter, suffered a twisted left knee and Ron Chipperfield, leading goal scorer in the WCHL with 56, suffered a bruised left shoulder in the first period and was taken to hospital for x-rays.

After Jerry Butler tallied twice for Winnipeg, Brandon came back with two goals by Wayne Coxworth and singles by Glen McKelison, Bob McKinstry, Brian Coates and Bob Murdoch.

At New Westminster, goalie John Davidson of the Centennials was sensational as Calgary got the deadlock with the Bruins. Davidson made 48 saves.

Lorne Henning and Don Martineau scored for the Bruins with Jim Watson and Bob Nystrom replying for the Centennials.

At Swift Current, Brian Beck scored two goals in the Broncos win over Edmonton.

Vern McCormick, Dave Williams and Terry Ruskowski also counted for Swift Current. Edmonton got goals from Terry Smith, Curtis Shokoples and Brian Ogilvie.

Bruins Return To Third Place

CHILLIWACK, B.C. (CP) — Chilliwack Bruins moved back into third place in the British Columbia Junior Hockey League Thursday night with a 6-2 victory over Richmond Centennials.

The Bruins took an early lead with first-period goals by Denis Andersen and Rich Kramp.

Richmond's Murray Beck replied to end the first frame scoring.

The teams traded goals in the second, with Dave O'Donnell counting for Chilliwack and Dave McClellan for the Centennials.

The Bruins controlled the third period and got goals from Rob Hesketh, Neil Britton and Kramp.

Bob Lewis of Richmond was thrown out of the game in the final period for arguing a penalty call with the referee. The Centennials also lost Barry Holden, sent down from the Western Canada Hockey League Vancouver Nats, late in the first period when he suffered a dislocated elbow in a collision with a teammate.

The win gives Chilliwack 49 points, one more than fourth-place Kamloops.

SENIOR GIRLS VALLEY CHAMPIONS

Aynsley Leads Track Squad

Brock Aynsley, a top gridiron and track star in his days with Kelowna Secondary School, is continuing his ways as he leads the Washington State University athletes into a indoor track meet at Idaho State University Saturday.

Aynsley, second captain of the team, is entered in the 300-yard dash team and is expected to take part in the mile relay race. One other Canadian is on the 12-man team, with Mike Reed of Burnaby entered in the relay race and the 880 event.

Opponents Agree Vera Pezer Best

SASKATOON, (CP) — There was little doubt Vera Pezer's Saskatchewan rink was the best in the Canadian Women's curling championship. The other eight rinks agreed.

"They had the stamina," said skip Lee Tobin of Quebec who finished fourth Thursday in the 12th annual round-robin competition with a 6-3 record.

"There was no doubt about it, Saskatchewan is the best."

The Saskatoon rink proved it Thursday night with a convincing 9-3 win over Helen Sillman of Ontario to wrap up its second straight national women's title.

After Sheila McLeod of New Brunswick lost 10-2 to Saskatoon in an eighth-round draw Thursday afternoon, the Fredericton rink had nothing but praise for the Saskatchewan foursome which included third Shella Rowan, second Joyce McKee and lead Lee Morrison.

WON IN PLAYOFF "They're fantastic," Mrs. McLeod said. "I've never seen such amazing girls, they should be in the national men's championships."

Saskatchewan, which won the title last year after a playoff with Alberta and B.C., concluded the 1972 championship with eight wins and one defeat. Its only loss was to Quebec in the first round.

In other ninth-round games, Polly Beaton of Alberta defeated Sue Ann Bartlett of Newfoundland 7-5, Quebec downed Sharon Bettsworth of B.C. 11-3, Audrey Williamson of Manitoba edged Marie Toole of Prince Edward Island 7-6 and Helen Rowe of Nova Scotia beat New Brunswick 9-4.

Alberta and Manitoba shared second place at the end of the four-day series with 7-2 records each, with Mrs. Tobin having a 6-3 record. P.E.I. had five wins and four losses, Newfoundland was 4-5, and Nova Scotia had a 3-6 tally. B.C. and Ontario each had 2-7 marks and New Brunswick was 1-8.

It was the fourth national women's championship in succession for Saskatchewan. This year's personnel won the title in 1971 at St. John's, Nfld., Dorenda Schoenhals of Saskatoon took the crown in 1970 and McKee was the skip in 1969 with Miss Pezer at third. Saskatchewan won at Thunder Bay.

The West has won 11 of 12 women's titles, losing only to Mabel DeWare of Moncton, N.B. in 1963.

Miss Pezer said she didn't know whether her rink would disband before the 1973 championship at Charlottetown.

Junior Boys Hoop Playoffs

Dr. Knox Trojans and KLO will represent the central zone in the Okanagan Valley Junior Boys' Basketball championships to start on two fronts tonight.

Trojans followed up a first place finish in the local league with a win over KLO for the zone crown. They will face their first test tonight at 8:30 p.m. at Knox, when they go against Osoyoos, the south's second representative.

KLO goes into action on their home court at 8:30 p.m. as they tangle with Valleyview of Kamloops. The second game at KLO in the starting round has Shuswap, the north zone's second team, against Oliver, the top team in the south.

John Peterson, second team in the west, will meet the top northern team, Revelstoke, in the first game at Knox at 7 p.m.

The top two Valley teams in the double knockout competition will travel to Vancouver next weekend for the provincial championships.

ASSIST COMPANY

MONTREAL (CP) — Pierre Boutet, music producer for the CBC's Quebec radio station and Montrealers Edgar Fruitier, an actor, and John Newmark, a pianist, have been appointed artistic counsellors to Opera du Quebec, the province's government-supported opera company.

Their task will be to advise the company on the choice of operas to be presented as well as to recommend singers for the various roles.

Expensive Blast By Bullet Coach

NEW YORK (AP) — Baltimore Bullets' Coach Gene Shue has until March 15 to pay a $2,000 fine for blasting National Basketball Association referees.

"The statements he made to the press go far beyond the emotional outburst of a coach following a defeat," NBA commissioner Walter Kennedy said Thursday in announcing the fine.

The fine was for a blast Shue levelled against officials following the Bullets' 118-117 overtime loss to the Seattle Super-Sonics last Tuesday night.

REMEMBER WHEN...

Australian track star Ron Clarke, already holder of the 10,000 metres world record, set a fresh mark for the 10 miles seven years ago today—in 1965—at Merton, Australia, of 47 minutes, 12.8 seconds. By the end of the season Clarke had five records already acknowledged or pending recognition.

Is Ritchie Allen A Real Holdout? Chisox Not Worried About Star

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Is Ritchie Allen a holdout for Chicago White Sox?

General manager Stu Holcomb isn't exactly sure, but this much Holcomb and the White Sox know. They did not have a contract with Allen's signature on it as they prepared for to-erally reports late for spring training.

And, Allen's former employers in Philadelphia, St. Louis and Los Angeles might add, he's occasionally late for other incidents like regular-season games.

The problem does not seem to be financial. Holcomb has a verbal commitment from Allen's Philadelphia agent for a 1972 contract, reported to be $120,000.

But a commitment is not a contract.

The Stampede also announced the signing of offensive back Ray Langcaster who was cut later in last year's training camp.

Langcaster, 5-10 and 180 pounds, played college football at Xavier University in Ohio.

IMPORTANT INFORMATION ABOUT TELEPHONE SERVICE FOR LAKEVIEW HEIGHTS

Starting March 5, 1972 your telephone will be serviced from a new exchange office employing electronic switching. This is an important advance in telephone switching and will bring benefits in speed, convenience and new service features. Some differences will be apparent to you immediately when your calls start going through this new electronically-controlled facility.

For instance, the connection to another number within your exchange will be almost instantaneous when you've dialed the seventh and last digit of the number you're calling.

YES, IT WILL BE NECESSARY TO DIAL THE FULL SEVEN DIGITS ON EACH LOCAL CALL.

You may notice these other differences:

- A different dial tone, busy signal and ring-back tone.
- No "click" after each digit is dialed.
- Partial dialing or too long a delay in dialing the complete number will prevent your call from being completed.
- disconnection of the line when either you or the person you've called hangs up. (If you have extension phones on your line and wish to move to another phone from the one on which you've answered a call, don't hang up the first one until you've picked up the second.)

TO REACH ANOTHER PARTY ON YOUR LINE

If you are a party-line customer and wish to reach another party on your line, dial the seven digits of that person's number, then hang up your receiver while his telephone rings. Wait a reasonable length of time, then lift the receiver and talk. (Should the called person lift his receiver first, he will hear a "ticking" tone indicating someone on his party line is waiting to talk. The "ticking" tone stops when the person making the call lifts his receiver.)

Maurice Vaughan (David Hughes) and Chris (Patricia Collins) are both embarrassed when they realize that Pheasant has brought them to a meeting in the woods under false pretenses, but they are interrupted by Renny (Paul Harding). Before the matter is straightened out, Renny realizes how seriously interested in Chris he is. Eden, meanwhile, is still pursuing his romance with Mrs. Stroud, unaware that his Uncle Ernest is his rival.

In the present (1971) the casual affair between young Ernest and his second cousin Victoria (Don Scardino and Linda Goranson) ends when Victoria's interest in Christian (Gary McKeehan) is revived. Adeline's son (Jaro Dick) strengthens his relationship with his stepmother Ruth (Toby Tarnow) when they decide to take a trip, and Adeline (Kate Reid) is jealously motivated to ask her lawyer about the possibility of regaining custody of Mip. ## And Agent Called Back Again About Blacula Film Offer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "How would you like to direct a movie called Blacula?" the agent asked over the telephone.

Director William Crain answered with a vulgarism and hung up.

The agent called back and persisted. Crain now is filming in Los Angeles locations what is being billed as "the first black vampire movie."

It had to happen. Producers have suddenly realized that the black U.S. population is a lush market for films designed specifically for blacks. No company is better at sniffing a trend than American International, the people who gave you beach-party and cycle-gang epics.

Handsome, 29-year-old Bill Crain views his first feature movie with mixed feelings: "The tragic thing is that I drew the assignment because I am black. I would much rather have gotten it because of my abilities, rather than the color of my skin."

"But now that I've got it, I'm going to do the best damned job I can."

Crain is typical of hopeful young film makers—black and white—who learn the frustrations of trying to break into the tightly structured movie establishment.

Composer Bankrupt

LONDON (AP) — Composer Lionel Bart, whose hit songs made him a millionaire, has declared himself bankrupt.

"I'm sorry, I can't say anything," the 41-year-old Bart told reporters after filing a petition of bankruptcy in court Tuesday.

The composer of Britain's most successful stage and screen musical since the Second World War, Oliver!, Bart hit the top in a meteoric, 13-year career as a songwriter.

His fortunes started to ebb in 1965 when Twang, a musical based on the adventures of Robin Hood, folded after six weeks, losing an estimated $200,000.

At the height of his success, Bart was a prominent member of the jet set. One of his purchases was a golden toilet paper holder for the bathroom of his sumptuous house in London's fashionable Kensington district.

Last year's winner was actor James Stewart.

UNEARTH OLD CAVE

HAIFA (Reuter) — Israeli archeologists reported Thursday unearthing an ancient burial cave, apparently dating from the second century A.D., at nearby Tivon. They said the find is important for the history of Jewish settlement in the area, especially since it is near the ancient Jewish cemetery of Beit Shearim.

HARNESS SOLAR WIND

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Man one day will sail his space-ships between the planets carried on the solar wind, the 1970 Nobel laureate for physics predicts. Flights to Mars will take weeks instead of months when the energy in the wind—hot, electrically-charged particles streaming from the sun at more than a million miles an hour—is tapped, says Dr. Hannes Alfvén, 63.

Pheasant Vaughan in the series, has perhaps the most difficult "aging" to achieve—her role takes her from a young teen-ager to a woman in her mid-sixties. In Episode 6, she is the young Pheasant, trying to win her father's love.

Playing Maurice Vaughan, Pheasant's father, is David Hughes, a Vancouver-born actor whose career began in a CBC series produced there: Cariboo Country, in which Chief Dan George also made his debut. As Smith, the laconic rancher, Hughes appeared as well in two Festival productions about the same people living in the B.C. interior—The Education of Phyllistina and How to Break a Quarter Horse. Also appearing in revue and stage productions at the Vancouver Playhouse, Hughes married a Winnipeg actress, Judy Sinclair, six years ago.

Marie Dubas Dies At 78

PARIS (AP) — Marie Dubas, former star of the French stage and music halls, has died here after a long illness. She was 78.

Trained as an actress and dancer, she had an unsensational career until she introduced a new song, My Legionnaire, in 1936. It made her a star overnight and was adopted by the French Foreign Legion. It was sung by countless performers—including Edith Piaf, who once called Marie Dubas "the master of us all."

Miss Dubas toured liberated zones during the Second World War, singing to French troops, and later returned to straight acting with a series of long-run plays. She retired in 1958.

RECEIVES GRANT

VANCOUVER (CP) — The B.C. Indian Homemakers' Association has received the first instalment of a $20,000 grant to help finance a leadership training course. ## Group Of Quebec Productions Deserve Attention Say Critics

NEW YORK (CP) — A group of films produced in Quebec has drawn praise from the New York Times, which says the film-makers deserve wider recognition.

Reviewer Roger Greenspun uses such phrases as "fresh and unusual" and "evocative and skilfully beautiful" in describing the films shown here at the Museum of Modern Art.

Among the film-makers, "I don't think anyone's name is likely to be familiar," Greenspun writes. "But some of them clearly ought to become familiar, and to this end the museum show is a very real service."

"Several of the films, expressing the concerns of French-Canadian nationalism, offer a revolutionary message," he adds. But the message is "generally a pragmatic plea for freedom or for a chance at a better life."

Conventionally, the best looking and most commercial of the films is Claude Jutra's My Uncle Antoine, Greenspun says. The film depicts life in a small mining town through the eyes of a teen-age boy.

FRESH AND UNUSUAL

It "handily deals with love and death and desire and poverty and coming of age," he says and "its particulars are fresh and unusual." He notes, however, that the film "tends to warm everything in the soft light of a bitter-sweet nostalgia entirely too available in recent movies."

Much better and tougher, he feels, is A Question of Life by Andre Therberge, in which a young mother in trouble begins meeting the Virgin Mary at her bus stop each morning.

"Therberge takes the Virgin Mary rather casually in stride as does his heroine (Frederique Colline, a delicately lovely actress) whom he follows through a succession of sad, quiet, but essentially witty blackout sketches."

River Schooners, by Pierre Perrault, a documentary on the people who live on the Ile-aux-Coudres in the St. Lawrence River, draws special praise.

Greenspun says the film "is a very modern kind of documentary: elusive, fragmented, quite without the old didacticism. But it is also an evocative and skilfully beautiful film, and in the tradition of documentary it does teach . . . how to suffer defeat so jauntily that it looks not like victory, but like a pretty good defeat."

The reviewer's favorite is Red, by Gilles Carle, an action-packed feature about the exploits of Daniel Pilon, half-breed Indian, successful car thief and womanizer.

The film "comes close to recreating the sealed insolence and dizzying complexity of the more commercial Claude Chabrol thrillers," Greenspun says. "And it recalls the giddy pleasure of not knowing, or caring, exactly where you have been, or where you are going or why."

"That a national cinema might exist without a nation seems a practical impossibility," Greenspun writes. "And yet one does exist, not too far from us, among the few million French-speaking people of Canada."

Burt Lancaster Named In Suit

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actor Burt Lancaster has been named in a $21.5 million damage suit involving a land trust deed.

The complaint by Beverly Hills lawyer Arthur G. Lawrence accuses Lancaster and several other individuals and corporate defendants of violating an agreement not to record a grant deed.

Lawrence intends he signed the deed with the understanding it would not be recorded.

The lawyer claims the defendants recorded the deed, causing him to lose valuable properties and undergo severe emotional distress.

The properties were not described.

OP SUCCESSFUL

RICHMOND, Va. (AP) — Al Hirt, the New Orleans jazz trumpeter, has undergone abdominal surgery at the Medical College of Virginia. A hospital spokesman said the 50-year-old Hirt's condition Wednesday was satisfactory. Hirt entered hospital last week for tests.

Beach Boys Alter Image

LONDON (Reuter) — The Beach Boys pop group said Tuesday it will change its musical style and white-American image by taking on two non-white South African players.

The California-based group, whose hits include Good Vibrations and Sloop John B, told a news conference that it previously represented "all that is white and middle class." Its six-man lineup has been unchanged for the last seven years.

Now, Ricky Fataar, a 19-year-old South African Asian, will become the group's drummer and Blondie Chaplin, 20, a colored (mixed blood) player from Cape Province, will handle the base and guitar.

Both were born in Durban, South Africa, and previously played with a South African group called The Flame.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Actress Elizabeth Ashley and actor George Peppard have divorced after six years of marriage, saying their differences are "absolutely unreconcilable."

Their romance made news in 1965 when Miss Ashley, the toast of Broadway in Barefoot in the Park, paid $30,000 to buy out of the show and follow Peppard to Hollywood.

The divorce settlement, approved Monday in Los Angeles Superior Court, gives Miss Ashley $2,000 a month alimony and orders her to vacate Peppard's house by June 30, when her alimony will go to $2,500. Additionally, Peppard, 43, is to pay $350 to $500 child support for their son, Christian, 4. Miss Ashley received custody; Peppard got normal visitation rights.

Pop Star, Actor Almost Duelled

LONDON (AP) — Pop star Jess Conrad and actor Larry Taylor duelled at dawn Tuesday in Regents Park over a licence plate. An 18-year-old blonde model, in hot pants and knee boots, was referee.

Conrad insured his good looks for $52,000 but he and Taylor had barely touched swords when the law arrived and reminded them duelling is no longer legal.

They sheathed their epees and agreed to negotiate. The licence plate "JC 21" is on Taylor's car, and Conrad wanted it, personalized plates being all the rage in England. For six months Taylor said no, and finally Conrad challenged him.

Taylor's car still carried the plate today.

KELOWNA DAILY COURIER TOWNS

MONTREAL (CP) — Pianist Marek Jablonski has played in the concert halls of Europe but prefers the small-town folks in Western Canada.

In the small towns, he said, the audience is "waiting for someone to give them something honest and real and true."

In the concert halls he has to play "to reach the people in the fourth balcony"—the real music lovers who must sit in the less expensive seats.

Mr. Jablonski was in the city for the premiere of Jablonski, a one-hour National Film Board color documentary on his life.

The documentary, about Mr. Jablonski's early life in Poland during the Second World War and the family's trek to Canada when he was 11, will be shown on the CBC television network Wednesday, March 8.

Hair! Agin In Trouble

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (Reuter) — The company staging the rock musical Hair was charged Tuesday with presenting an indecent show.

The show opened in Auckland Saturday after playing successful seasons in the Australian cities of Sydney and Melbourne, and was booked for seasons in Christchurch, and in Wellington, the New Zealand capital.

Attorney-General Sir Ray Jock consented to the police prosecuting the show.

In Parliament today, the opposition Labor party's spokesman on legal affairs, Dr. Martine Finlay, said, "I must admit to considerable astonishment that a 'happening' which has been presented at most large English-speaking cities without restraint and without publicly-reported ill-effects should be called upon here to answer the full authority of the law."

Budapest Toasts Liz

BUDAPEST (AP) — The Tokay, Csarda and Bellevue restaurants were all aglitter in Budapest's plush Hotel Duna Intercontinental to ring in the 40th birthday Sunday of Elizabeth Burton Taylor, one of the screen world's most famous beauties.

Liz is here with her actor husband Richard Burton, who has the title role of Edward Dmytryk's Bluebeard, filmed on location at Budapest's film studio. Liz is not working in the film.

Edith Bunker Liberated From Role As Chic Woman

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Edith Bunker, the No. 1 dingbat and browbeaten wife in the United States, Jean Stapleton, liberated woman. That unlikely pair meets and merges every week on All in the Family.

Edith is blind to the world outside her living room, where she is an accessible target for Archie's male ego and chauvinism.

But Miss Stapleton, outside of her role as Edith, will not be stifled.

"I go along with women's liberation," she said. "I could never live that limited an existence. People should have a lot more resources than that."

"I think Archie's behavior and bigotry are terrible, but it needs to be brought out. Perhaps some family guilty of this behavior will see it and realize what's happening."

"I've heard criticism that children go out and repeat the ethnic slurs they hear on the show. I've seen no indication of that in my own children. They just laugh at Archie."

"I think when children repeat slurs it's because they heard parents or teachers use them."

TWO CHILDREN

Miss Stapleton's children are Pam, 12, and John, 11.

Edith, by means of the top-rated CBS comedy, has turned Miss Stapleton into a celebrity and an Emmy-winning actress. It is doubtful that Edith would comprehend this or that she could understand a lifestyle where the stage is preferred to the kitchen.

Nevertheless, Miss Stapleton feels she could be friends with Edith, if there were such a person. In fact, she confesses, she knows many people with traces of Edith. "There are a lot of dingbats in this world."

"I approve of some aspects of her, but others I don't. The negative aspects for instance, the way she shuts out the world, is apathetic about so many things, including women's lib."

"She has lovable aspects, too. She lives on a shallow level, but she has such depth of character and honesty. Edith punctures that inflated ego of Archie's with her natural wit and wisdom."

EVENTFUL BACKGROUND

The theatre is an integral part of Miss Stapleton's life. She has a long background in stock and on Broadway, where she appeared in such productions as Juno, Funny Girl and Come Back, Little Sheba.

It was through the theatre that she met and was courted by her husband, William H. (Bill) Putch.

Putch—it rhymes with Dutch—is producer-director of the Totem Pole Playhouse near Chambersburg, Pa., where the Putches and their two children will return in mid-March. Miss Stapleton will appear in three plays this summer.

She said: "I'm a liberated woman because I have a liberated husband. Therein lies the key to women's liberation. People like Archie have to put down the blinders and look at their wives as human beings and not as pieces of property."

Actually, there is little resemblance between Miss Stapleton and the weary, dowdy Edith Bunker, whose dresses are bought by a CBS costumer at a thrift shop. Past the sunny side of 40, she is attractive, blue-eyed, has reddish-brown hair, and was fashionably attired in a burgundy jacket, a salt-and-pepper tweed maxiskirt, and a white turtleneck blouse during an interview.

Miss Stapleton, who got the role after three auditions, said: "Edith has a natural gift of intuition. It's not guile. She's guileless. That's one of the things I love about Edith. Sometimes I have a line that can be done two ways. You can do it as a wisecrack or do it innocently. I never do it as a wisecrack. Her wisdom is natural."

COPENHAGEN (Reuter) — Fleming Flindt, director of the Royal Danish Ballet, and several of his dancers stripped naked onstage Tuesday night during a performance of a "dance drama" about the impending end of the world.

Police were called when four members of the audience stripped naked also. They agreed to get dressed and were allowed to return to watch the rest of the show.

No Pressure On Esposito Smith Sets Goalie Record

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

For most of the season Phil Esposito and Jean Ratelle have been in a neck-and-neck race for the scoring leadership of the National Hockey League, and it appeared the close competition would continue to the end of the season.

Then Wednesday night, Ratelle, the New York Rangers centre, was eliminated from the race when he suffered a broken ankle that will sideline him for the rest of the season.

And relieved of the challenge for scoring honors, Esposito, Boston Bruin centre and scoring champion last year, scored three goals Thursday night in leading the Bruins to a 7-3 shellacking of Vancouver Canucks.

The three goals gave Esposito 58 for the season, and with 14 games remaining for Boston in the schedule, he is 19 away from breaking the NHL high of 76 goals in a season he set last year.

SUITCASE SETS RECORD
In other games Thursday night, Al Smith of Detroit Red Wings set an NHL assist record for goalies in a losing cause as Pittsburgh Penguins stopped the Red Wings 7-4.

Besides his three goals, Esposito also picked up two assists, and the five points give him a total of 115, six ahead of Ratelle, who still is in second place.

Esposito's first goal was set up by defenceman Carol Vadnais, his first scoring point since joining the Bruins last week in a trade with California Golden Seals. Vadnais also got an assist on Esposito's second goal, which came on a power play at 6:25 of the second period.

Esposito's third and 58th goal of the season was a tip-in off a Fred Stanfield deflection, of a Bobby Orr shot from the point. That 58th goal put him two ahead of his place at the end of 64 games last season when he scored his record 76 goals.

SPOT CANUCKS LEAD

The Bruins spotted the Canucks a 1-0 lead in the first period on Dale Tallon's 15th goal of the season, but the Bruins replied with four goals in the second period, two by Esposito and one each by Stanfield and Johnny McKenzie. Three of the goals came on power plays as Boston outshot Vancouver 20-5 in the period.

The game was the Bruins 24th without a defeat on home ice, four short of the record held by Montreal Canadiens. Boston has won 20 and tied four in that streak.

mer Penguin, earned his fourth assist of the season when he helped set up Red Berenson's goal in the second period. The assist broke the record of three set by Bernie Parent while he was with Philadelphia in the 1969-70 season. Parent now plays for Toronto Maple Leafs.

The Penguins, who took a 3-0 lead in the first period but saw it wiped out when the Red Wings scored four unanswered goals by the end of the second period, won the game with a couple of breaks.

The first break came when Nick Harbaruk's long, soft shot, which appeared headed wide of the Detroit net, was deflected off the skate of Detroit's Mickey Redmond. As Smith reached across the goal area to stop the puck, he deflected it over the goal line.

APPS SETS IT UP

Then, as a slap shot by Duanne Rupp whizzed past the goal and bounced back from the boards, Smith tried to stop the puck but it slipped under his stick. Syl Apps Jr. grabbed the puck and set up Jean Pronovost for another goal.

Redmond, who was among the Detroit scorers, got his 37th of the season. Because of the Detroit loss, the Red Wings remained deadlocked with Toronto Maple Leafs for fourth place and the last playoff spot in the East Division. They both have 13 games remaining.

Greg Athans Picks Up Point

THORNBURY, Ont. (CP)

The 15 top-ranking eastern skiers on the Pontiac Cup circuit swept the dual slalom race Thursday by a score of 9-6 to take the East-West challenge trophy.

The five eastern women in the slalom each finished ahead of their western challengers while the western men took six of the 10 races at Georgian Peaks.

The dual slalom race was added to the Pontiac Cup final to foster the friendly rivalry that has developed through the seasons as competitors raced in separate east and west series.

The winners: Grant Rutherglen (west) defeated Arthur Bourbon (east). Pierre Saville (east) defeated Gary Aitken (west). Marc Perreault (east) defeated Tom Irwin (west). Rick Todd (west) defeated Terry Howe (east).

Greg Athans (west) defeated Robert David (east). Gordon Acton (east) defeated Scott Cross (west). Mike Robbins (east) defeated Randy Davis (west). Steve Hamilton (west) defeated Jeff Armstrong (east). Keith Humfrey (west) defeated Robin Matchett (east).

In the women's events, all the eastern girls won: Donna Dafeo over Jill Gatin; Carolyn Dufresne over Janet Mason; Andrea Eason over Joanne Becker; Karen Cloutier over Chris Parson; Julie Dobell over Marlies Joseph.

Unseasonably Warm Weather Talk Of The University Games

LAKE PLACID, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union's superb cross-country skiers, undaunted by thawing temperatures and slow, slushy courses, have won the men's and women's relays to continue their dominance of the cross-country events at the World University Winter Games.

The victories Thursday put Russia safely ahead of the United States 12-10 in the medal competition as the Games entered their final three days.

But the talk of this Adirondack resort village was the freakish unseasonable weather—it rose to 58 degrees in the afternoon—that forced the postponement of the speed-skating races Thursday and spawned speculation that some events might have to be cancelled as the Games closing approached. Officials rescheduled four speed-skating races to be run along with two races already scheduled for today, with a promise from weather forecasters that overnight temperatures would dip below zero.

RUSSIANS 4-0
The Russian hockey team continued its winning ways Thursday night, laying it on a winless U.S. squad 8-3. The Americans played the Russians evenly for two periods—the first and third, but were mauled in the second when the Soviet Union scored five goals to one for the United States.

Russia has won all four matches while Canada is 2-2. The U.S. is 0-4. Each country plays the other three times in the tournament.

The Russians coasted to the gold medal in the 40-kilometre relay on the sun-softened Mount van Hoevenberg course. Anchorman Fedor Shumashev, an Olympic silver medalist, crossed the line more than six minutes ahead of the second-place Japanese. The U.S. took the bronze. Russia's time was 2:32:54.9.

The Canadian team was sixth and last in 2:52:56.3. The Canadian team comprised Darrell Frank and Lorne Luhta, both of Laurentian University in Sudbury, Ont., and Don Gardner and Larry Mason of the University of Calgary.

The finish in the women's 15-kilometre relay was even more dramatic. Olympic gold medal winner Lubov Koukhachava skied a swift final lap to catch and pass the leading Polish team. The American team's third-place finish in the women's race was anti-climatic—there were only three teams entered.

The Russian girls' first two laps were run by Nina Selanina and Olga Rokka. The combined time was 1:01:22.9. The Polish girls—Zofia Majerczyk, Krystyna Turowska and Bogumila Trzebunia—finished 19 seconds behind.

Schreyer Loses Key Man

WINNIPEG (CP) — Premier Ed Schreyer has lost one of his key ministers on the eve of the fourth session of the 29th Manitoba legislature and now is faced with the prospect of a legislative debate with a former cabinet colleague.

Resources Minister Sidney Green tendered his resignation from the Manitoba cabinet Thursday in opposition to state aid to private and parochial schools. Premier Schreyer has committed himself to extending such aid and announced last week he would introduce a bill during the coming session and submit it to a free vote.

Mr. Green, who also held the urban affairs portfolio and was government house leader, said he would continue only as M.L.A. for the North Winnipeg constituency of Inkster but could not remain within the executive council of government without compromising his principles.

He said the NDP government was not elected in 1969 on the basis that it would support or extend aid to private and parochial schools. He reiterated his opposition to extending such aid.

IT'S OLD PROBLEM

The thorny issue of aid to private and separate schools has been with Manitoba since the late 19th century and until recently all aid was banned.

Mr. Green, 42, who has represented the Inkster constituency since 1966, has bid for the provincial NDP leadership twice and lost on both occasions. In June, 1969 he was defeated by Mr. Schreyer, who led the party to victory in a general election later that month.

BUT 'WHEN'?

NOW Arrives In Edmonton

EDMONTON (CP) — NOW, the Gov. J. W. Grant MacEwan read the speech from the throne.

It was provincial bill of rights, a personal project of the premier's.

The Canadian Bill of Rights already provides for the protection of certain fundamental freedoms but Mr. Loughheed, in introducing his bill, said the federal statute is limited because it operates only within federal authority.

Premier Peter Loughheed, the 43-year-old lawyer who led the Conservatives to victory, introduced the government's first bill Thursday shortly after Lt.

to permit public hearings this summer. The concept of at least two sessions yearly is a Conservative idea designed to render them "more frequently accountable to the people."

Still on human rights, the government said it intends to repeal the sexual sterilization act which permits sterilization of mentally-retarded persons; it "offends basic human rights."

The throne speech pledged fast action on four other major priorities: difficulties of the aged, problems of the family, farm and marketing of agricultural products, facilities and support for handicapped children and improvement of mental health care.

Also in the works are several ecological bills, including an expanded Beverage Containers Act, new litter and land surface reclamation acts, stronger clean air and clean water acts and a revised Water Resources Act.

The only surprise in the speech, most of which confirmed speculation, was the announcement of a $50-million agricultural development fund to cover all areas of agricultural credit with special programs—specifically related to marketing—for the small farmer and the young farmer.

Alaska Route Talks Urged

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senator Mike Gravel has asked President Nixon to authorize continued negotiations with Canada aimed at reconstruction and paving of the Alaska Highway.

The Alaska Democrat said Wednesday he has written Nixon, urging reconsideration of a decision to stop the negotiations which were authorized by legislation last year.

Gravel said in a statement that the president called off the talks on the assumption that traffic would not warrant the project and alternate modes of transportation are developing.

MUSEUM NOTES

Irish Battle In Canada Reported By 1857 Paper

By URSULA SURTEES
Reading of the Irish troubles today, it is probably with a sigh of relief that the average Canadian assumes that this sort of thing won't happen here. I wonder how many Canadians realize that it did happen here.

In July 1857 a very serious disturbance occurred in Montreal. Even as today, it was a battle between the Irish Roman Catholics and the Irish Protestants. Here is an eye witness report given by the newspaper printed at that time.

"From one of the windows of the Odd Fellows Hall, the Orangemen had suspended a banner. This gave great umbrage to Irish Roman Catholics passing through Great St.

James Street, who afterwards assembled there, about 1,000 in number, and expressed their indignation by firing a couple of shots at the banner, and by yells.

The banner was removed when its effect was noted. Shortly after, a Mr. Smith, coming out of the hall, was struck on the head by a stone and very seriously injured. Another person, a carpenter, was beaten at the same place, but not so seriously.

About four o'clock a young man walking quietly along Notre Dame Street, was rushed upon by several carter's at the corner of St. Joseph's Street, and beaten and thrown on the steps of the church. He was badly hurt and bled profusely.

His only offence was that he wore an orange tiger lily in his coat buttonhole. The acting mayor and councillors were present but nothing was done to arrest the offenders.

Several other incidents took place at this time. At eight o'clock a young English midshipman wearing a ribbon won in the Crimean War, was knocked down and kicked in the head. He was rescued by a city policeman. He (the midshipman) said he noticed several men with butcher knives and steel sharpened at the points.

Yesterday morning a poor servant girl had some orange ribbons and flowers torn from her bonnet while at the market; such was the lamentable, blind fury of these fanatics. Toward night-fall numbers of persons gathered, the majority of whom were boys, who exhibited a disposition to give vent to their excitement by noisiness.

The city police, to prevent any chance of disturbance were divided into two columns and spread across the street—one opposite the Ottawa Hotel, the other by the Mechanics' Institute. An attack was however made during the course of the evening. Windows were broken and guns discharged. The police controlled the situation and all was quiet by midnight.

That's telling it "like it was" in Montreal, July, 1857.

Ellison Carnival Raised $400

ELLISON (Special) — The second annual carnival was held at the Ellison Elementary School on Friday and was enjoyed by young and old. The auditorium was decorated for the occasion, and the various concessions were well patronized.

Jerry Geen guessed the number of pennies in a jar almost correctly, being one out, there were 857 pennies, donated by Mrs. Simon de Boer of Cornish Road. The date of the carnival coincided with the opening of the old Ellison school, now the primary school, which took place 60 years ago. To mark the occasion a painting of the old building done by Bruno Guidi, and donated by him, was won by Mrs. Michael Silbernagel.

Proceeds from the carnival will be used to buy equipment for the playground, and this year will be concentrated on games for the younger children and school uniforms to be used for future competitive sports. The net proceeds were $430.

Policeman Slain In Ulster Ambush

BELFAST (CP) — A young police sergeant died today in a hospital of a sniper's bullet, the fifth policeman killed by terrorists in Northern Ireland this year.

Sgt. Thomas Morrow was shot in the head during an ambush Tuesday as he and another officer investigated a break-in at a factory on the outskirts of the tough frontier town of Newry. Otherwise, Ulster had its quietest night in weeks.

The over-all death toll in Northern Ireland has risen to 52 this year and 258 since political-religious-social strife erupted in the fall of 1969.

NEVER BOIL
Never boil an egg. High temperatures toughen it.

Charlie Colk, commissioner for the cubs, advised that full uniform is a rule, not a choice. It has not been the practice to enforce the rule in this area and some discussion followed regarding this point.

Plans are being worked out for a scout-cub three-day camp and it is hoped the working together of these two groups will encourage more boys to join scouts after being through with cubs.

Appreciation was expressed to scouters, Mike Henderson and Pete Zazulak for the comprehensive display built for scout week on view at Orchard Park.

There is still a definite need for leaders and it is hoped more adults will volunteer their time to assist in the scout movement. Training programs are given to any prospective leaders.

Hoop Drought Ends For Dons

WESTBANK (Special) — George Pringle has been busy with many activities this week. The Immaculata Dons snapped an 11 game winning streak over the George Pringle Chessmen last Saturday in the Okanagan Valley Basketball championship played in Kamloops.

Despite the loss, George Pringle, who defeated the Dons earlier in the zone playoff, will return to Kamloops Saturday as central representative to compete for the provincial title.

Leading the Chessmen all season with outstanding offensive and defensive basketball have been Tom Raffener who has averaged over 25 points per game, while John Sherstobitoff was outstanding on defence.

Other Chessmen include Jim Hlina, Jim Slater, Robert Griffin, Monte Crouch, Brian Brown, Rick Lock, Glenn Miller, Ken Spohr and Dusty Scott. The team was coached by Dale Hooper.

Cerebral Spasm: What It Means

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My mother recently suffered what her doctor refers to as a cerebral spasm. Her speech, right arm and right leg were affected. Speech returned promptly and the arm within a few days, but her leg, although improved, still drags. Can you describe briefly the difference between a cerebral spasm and a stroke? —H.S.

It may be that we are playing with words, but it is sometimes difficult to discover specifically what has happened in a case like this.

Cerebral spasm—a spasmodic constriction of blood vessels somewhere in the brain—is thought to occur occasionally in patients with high blood pressure. In other words, there is an interference with circulation to some part of the brain.

In broadest definition, this could be regarded as a form of a stroke, although not involving an embolism blocking an artery, or a hemorrhage allowing blood to escape from the blood vessel.

The diagnosis of "cerebral spasm" is to be quite common; more recently it has been offered less often because proof of any actual spasm was lacking.

Rather, such attacks are termed transient ischemic (tiss-KEE-mick) attacks. In plain English, that means a temporary absence of sufficient blood supply. It doesn't specify the exact cause by labeling it spasm or anything else.

Another term, "little stroke," is often used, too. There is an interruption in the blood supply, but either it resumes quickly through normal channels, or other blood vessels in the area replace enough blood soon enough so little function is lost.

For everyday purposes, it doesn't matter too much what you call it, a little stroke, or a transient ischemic attack, or something else. Whatever the term, if blood pressure is high, it is important to try to bring it down to a more normal level.

Your mother's quick recovery of speech and use of her arm is obviously a good sign, but the dragging of the leg also means that some brain damage persists. This may ultimately disappear but she has had a warning and should take what steps she can to avoid further damage. Control of her blood pressure is the foremost one.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am 70 and have been going to my doctor for a constant burning down there. He gave me a prescription that didn't stop it and suggested that I use A and D ointment which gives only temporary relief.

This has been going on for a year. I have had Pap tests and they are all right. Can you help me? —R.C.

After menopause (sometimes a long time after) the tissues of the genital region can become thin, dry and irritated, a condition called kraurosis vulvae. That could be your problem.

Use of the female hormone estrogen, either orally or applied as a cream, may help.

But I would suggest a test for diabetes if you haven't had one quite recently, since diabetes can cause genital itching and irritation.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: There has been considerable discussion as to which was worse for you, vodka or bourbon whisky. Would you give your opinion? —A.W.B.

Reluctantly. Strikes me as being in the same category as arguing whether it's better to be run over by a red car, a blue one or a green one.

1. Three diamonds. Game is uncertain at this point, so all you can do is invite partner to bid again. As usual, you apply the rule that it generally takes two opening bids to make a game.

Partner obviously has an opening bid, but you are a trifle short of one. North's two diamonds bid (a signoff) is a warning that he may have absolutely minimum values in which case there is no game. But since North may also have 2 or 3 points more than the bare minimum, you allow for that by inviting him to either show belated spade support or to undertake a notrump game.

2. Three notrump. North's minimum rebid should not deter you from bidding game when you have a full opening bid of your own. Three notrump is clearly the right spot with your 1 high-card points, balanced distribution and a stopper in

EDMONTON (CP) — An Edmonton man who shouted and screamed at a long-distance telephone operator was fined $50 Thursday for interfering with telephone service.

Before sentencing Harry Chmiecuk, 45, Judge Lucien Maynard asked if the language used was "as bad as the prime minister used in the House of Commons."

"Nothing as bad as that," replied Crown prosecutor S. C. McGoey. "This fellow isn't even a Liberal."

Heath May Have Ulster Plan

LONDON (CP) — As more assassinations are committed in Northern Ireland, speculation grows that the British government is preparing sweeping political measures in a desperate attempt to bring peace to the six counties.

Defence Chief Appointed

OTTAWA (CP) — Lt.-Gen. Jacques Dextraze, 52, of Montreal today was appointed chief of defence staff to succeed Gen. Frederick Sharp who is retiring.

The new chief will be promoted to general on taking his appointment Sept. 15.

The defence department also announced that Lt.-Gen. Michael Dore, 54, of Montreal, vice-chief of defence staff, is being sent to the Privy Council Office May 1.

The latest is today's front-page report in The Daily Mail, a staunch government supporter, that Prime Minister Heath may be toying with the idea of dismantling the 50-year-old Stormont Parliament and imposing direct government from London.

Such rumors run contrary to Heath's declared support for the Brian Faulkner Unionist administration.

Nevertheless, there are indications the British cabinet is considering proposals to bring Roman Catholics into the all-Protestant Stormont government and ease internment of Catholic extremists.

One Heath aide said the new political package will not be ready for announcement this week but may come next week.

INCLUDE REFERENDUM? The Guardian says the package will include plans for a referendum in Ulster on unification of Ireland as well as proposals "for some sort of community government."

Stormont officials said any attempt by the Heath administration to terminate the Protestant-dominated Stormont Parliament and impose administration from London would arouse great anger among Ulster Protestants who outnumber the Catholics two to one.

Warnings are heard of a Protestant backlash that might make the present guerrilla warfare of the Irish Republican Army seem like child's play in comparison. But there appears to be questions among more moderate Protestants whether, in fact, the backlash would include sustained violence.

However, there is still some doubt that Heath would deliberately pull the rug from beneath Faulkner's feet. A more moderate package seems likely.
